CHURCH ABANDONED AND BURNED.

The Californians Retired and Took Up Another Position—Gunboats Failed to Dislodge Natives From a Position They Held—Weather Getting Very Hot.

MANILA, Feb. 20.—The enemy have apparently realized the hopelessness of attacking the American position and are occupied chiefly by occasional sharp-shooting from the jungle whenever feasible. Fortunately their ignorance of the use of sights minimizes the effect of their guerrilla tactics.

The retirement of General King's advance posts upon San Pedro Macati has evidently been construed by the rebels as a sign of weakness, as they pressed forward along both sides of the river, persistently harassing the occupants of the town.

MANILA, Feb. 20.—The California volunteers abandoned Guadalupe church, which was afterward set on fire, and retired to San Pedro Macati. The rebels held the country in the vicinity of Guadalupe, Pasig and Paterno, despite the efforts of the gunboats to dislodge them from the jungle on both sides of the river.

The heat was intense and increasing perceptibly daily. Under the conditions it was impossible to provide shade for the troops in certain parts of the line, particularly McArthur's division. King's brigade was also exposed from San Pedro Macati to Culiculi, where it joined Overshine's brigade.

Mr. Higgins, the manager of the Manila-Daguapan railroad, was believed to be safe at Bayambang, although no communication had been received from him since Feb. 9. He was then housed at Mr. Clarke's place, with his wife and family and about six other Englishmen, some of whom were accompanied by their wives. While it was unlikely that the natives of the locality would harm them, it was feared that others from distant provinces might wreak vengeance at their expense.

In view of the fact that the enemy were concentrating on the American right flank, preparations were made Saturday night to give them a warm reception in the event of attack. General Overshine's line, consisting originally of the North Dakota volunteers, Fourteenth infantry and two troops of the Fourth cavalry, stretching from the beach at Camp Dewey to Gen. King's right, was reinforced by two battalions of Oregon volunteers and three troops of the Fourth cavalry as infantry.

The Buffalo's searchlight, discovering the rebels unusually active, about 10 o'clock in the evening, signalled the flagship for permission to fire upon them; and this being granted, bombarded the enemy's trenches for 20 minutes. The only effect of the fire was apparently to drive the rebels further inland.

Beyond a few ineffectual volleys from the trenches, which were returned with interest, the enemy made no demonstration and all was quiet along the rest of the line.

Scouts claimed to have seen General Pio del Pilar, who commanded the rebels at Pao, with his arm in a sling, directing the troops. General Montenegro, the insurgent commander-in-chief, was reported to have been personally conducting the movements in front of General King's line at San Pedro Macati.

MORE PORTO RICANS RESIGN.

General Henry Had Threatened to Jail Them.

SAN JUAN DE PORTO RICO, Feb. 20.—The mayor and a majority of the municipal council of San Juan tendered their resignations.

A few days ago the question of killing a cat for municipal consumption was referred to Gen. Guy V. Henry, governor general of Porto Rico, by consent of all the parties interested. After an investigation General Henry issued an order regarding the matter and the mayor and members of the council declared that they would resign before complying with the governor's decree. General Henry, annoyed by their quarreling and childish actions, told them that if they did not stop trifling and obey orders he would have them imprisoned. Resignations followed.

RIOTING IN PARIS.

Loubet Was Elected President of the Republic—Demonstrations Against Him.

PARIS, Feb. 20.—Police measures for the maintenance of order were taken on an extensive scale. M. Loubet was elected president Saturday.

Demonstrations occurred last evening in front of the office of Sebastian Faure's anarchist paper, The Journal de Peuple, on the Boulevard Montmartre, for and against Loubet.

There was a collision between the rival factions and several persons were injured. The partisans of the newly elected president were worsted in the conflict and moved off to the Cafe Breant, where they were again attacked and dispersed by their opponents. Many arrests were made.

Similar encounters occurred at the office of The Libre Parole.

M. Loubet was elected at the first balloting by 483 votes. There were altogether 817 voters out of 883 members of the assembly. The announcement was received with long and enthusiastic applause by all the Republicans, even including the 270 of their number who voted for Melne.

This shows that Loubet will be vigorously supported by the Republicans of every shade of opinion. The Republican demonstration completely drowned the frantic yells of derision uttered by the Nationalists, headed by Deroulede and Drumont. Then the new president, escorted by a squadron of cavalry, got into a carriage and drove out between the superb gateway of the palace of Versailles.

He came by train to this city and was received with military honors. Amid renewed acclamations from the crowds the president proceeded to the Elysee palace, in order to pay a tribute of respect to the remains of the late President Faure. He then went to the foreign office, where he received the high officials of state and the diplomatic corps.

As the presidential carriage left the St. Lazare station a band of 30 or 40 persons ranged themselves on either side of the landau under the leadership of a couple of individuals who kept giving signals for shouts of "down with Loubet!" and "resign! resign!" The general public was apparently indifferent, and no active hostility was displayed. Many in the crowd saluted the president and cried "vive Loubet!" and "vive l'armee!" but the shouts of the demonstrators running beside the carriage drowned the friendly salutations.

The noise and excitement were redoubled when the carriage stopped at the Elysee. Here two compact, hostile groups were massed, hooting and blowing whistles. M. Loubet and Dupuy spent about 10 minutes with Mme. Faure and then proceeded to the Quai d'Orsay. On his journey thither M. Loubet was more favorably received by the public.

LIEUT. CASTNER'S HEROISM.

Awful Hardships on His Trip In Alaska. Narrowly Escaped Starvation and Death.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 20.—Advices from Dawson said that Lieutenant Castner of the Fourth United States infantry, who started almost a year ago from the southern coast of Alaska to explore the interior and find, if possible, an all American trail to the Yukon, arrived there. Finding the trail they had believed to exist impassable, Lieutenant Castner and two companions started to reach civilization. They put their provisions, guns, etc., on a raft and set in afloat on the Tanana river. The raft was wrecked the second day and all the provisions, rifles, axes, etc., lost.

All that was saved was a coil of rope. With the rope another raft was built, and for six days the three men floated down the river, living on berries and roseapples. They were without shoes or moccasins, their feet being covered by canvas tied with strings. Just as hope was almost gone the party drifted into an encampment of Tanana Indians. Here they were hospitably received and fed, and after resting were guided to a camp of white men, 100 miles up the stream, where the party rested until a boat could carry them to the Yukon.

Stephens Found Guilty.

EASTON, Pa., Feb. 20.—A solemn-faced jury of 12 good men and true said Saturday that former Prof. George H. Stephens was guilty of burning Pardee hall, the chief building of Lafayette college. The jury was out for about one hour and a quarter.

PLEA FOR THE ARMY.

A Statement Issued by the War Department.

THE HULL BILL SUPPORTED.

Defects Pointed Out In the Measure Advocated by Senator Cockrell—Natives, It Was Declared, Cannot at Present Be Utilized as Soldiers In New Islands.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—A statement from the war department on pending army legislation and the needs of the service was issued with a request for publication. It referred to the two bills before congress. Of the Hull bill it said in part:

"The measure preserves the present organization and slightly strengthens the cavalry, augments the artillery and organizes that arm on a scientific basis suited to our conditions, gives to the infantry the much needed three battalion organization and makes only such additions to the staff as are absolutely indispensable. Under its provisions entrance to any branch of the army cannot be obtained until after the candidate for a commission has demonstrated his fitness for it to the satisfaction of a competent examining board. There is a clause empowering the president to extend or contract the enlisted strength according to the necessities of the country, providing for the first time a scheme adopted long since for all modern European military systems."

The statement further said in part:

"The other bill is brought forward by Senator Cockrell. Its first section directs the disbandment of the volunteer army within a specified period after the peace treaty shall have been ratified by Spain. Sections two and three contain its principal provisions. By the former authority is conferred for continuing the regular army at its war strength until July 1, 1901, while the third section authorizes the president to raise military forces to the number of 35,000 in Cuba, Porto Rico and the islands of the Pacific, to be known, respectively, as the army of Cuba, the army of Porto Rico and the army of the islands of the Pacific, to be composed of the inhabitants of such islands. No organization is provided in the bill for this force, nor does it determine what relation it shall sustain toward the permanent military establishment of the United States; and no professional, educational, or other test is prescribed for the persons who are to officer it. The bill does not provide for any additional general officers, greatly needed in the administration of affairs in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

"Cuba now constitutes a military division, commanded by a major general and moreover comprises six military departments, commanded by general officers of volunteers. In Porto Rico there is a necessity for at least one general officer, and in the Philippines for the general officers required for an army corps, so that if Senator Cockrell's bill should become a law it would leave the army deficient not only in enlisted force, but without any general officers to administer the important duties now devolving upon the government.

"The criticism that has been passed upon the department has been the absence of sufficiently trained staff officers. The Cockrell amendment would perpetuate this alleged lameness.

"Should his bill be passed into law the adjutant, inspector, quartermaster, subsistence, medical and pay departments would be left with only the bare skeleton of the staff organizations that we have had for the administering of affairs in the United States alone previous to the declaration of war with Spain.

"The returns of the war department show the strength of the regular army, at this time, to be only a few less than 60,000 enlisted men. Of these there are nearly 14,000 in Cuba and a like number in or enroute to the Philippines, and in Porto Rico 4,586, leaving the total enlisted men of the regular army in the United States 24,000. Of these 6,000 are held in readiness for dispatch to reinforce the army at Manila. This would leave the total enlisted strength of the army within the United States less than 18,000, or nearly 4,000 less than is necessary to furnish a single relief to man the guns now on our seacoast fortifications. It would compel the abandonment of all our posts in the interior.

would strip the Indian country of troops and leave none to supply the requirements of an exigent condition.

"At this time there is not an officer on duty with any college in the United States.

"Neither has it (the department) been able to attach officers to our embassies and legations abroad. There should be one at every European capital, there are now but three in all, and those who were recalled to participate in the war cannot be returned.

"The passage of the Hawley bill would enable the department to meet this urgent requirement and also to re-establish the schools at Fort Leavenworth, the artillery school at Fort Monroe and the cavalry and light artillery school at Fort Riley, all of which are now closed for the want of officers.

The passage of the Cockrell bill would discharge at once all the volunteer quartermasters, medical officers, commissaries, many of whom are officers of the regular army, holding volunteer commissions, and would leave the department with a corps of staff officers wholly inadequate with the increased demands that are being made from every quarter.

"The natives of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines do not understand our purposes and ways of government sufficiently to admit of their being made part of our military establishment to the extent of organizing them into companies, battalions and regiments at once. Our officers of greatest experience with them are of this opinion. In time this could doubtless be done, but it will require education."

FATAL ACCIDENTS.

Man Killed In a Runaway, Near Linden. Another Met Death While Loading Logs.

Tiffin, Feb. 20.—William Balcan, living near Linden, was killed in a runaway while returning home from church. His team took fright at a passing freight train. His wife was seriously, if not fatally injured.

Findlay, Feb. 20.—Porter Cooper, while loading logs on a car, was struck by a log. His skull was fractured and he was instantly killed.

MILLER'S BODY ARRIVED.

Remains Laid In State In Akron on Sunday.

AKRON, Feb. 20.—The remains of Lewis Miller arrived in Akron from New York about 7 o'clock Sunday morning over the Erie railroad and was at once taken to the First M. E. church, where they laid in state until 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. A. Edison were among those accompanying the body.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock by Rev. F. C. Haddock, pastor of the First M. E. church, assisted by Bishop J. H. Vincent and President Harper of the Chicago university. A memorial service will be conducted at the First M. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Addresses will be made by George W. Crouse, Bishop Vincent and President Harper, who will represent the Chautauqua association, and others.

ANOTHER SUIT BROUGHT.

Monnett Moved Against a Refining Company.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 20.—Attorney General Monnett brought suit in the supreme court to oust the Argand Refining company of Marietta from the state on the grounds of non-user of its charter and removal of its place of business from Marietta to 26 Broadway, New York.

He will go after the Continental Tobacco company, which is doing business in this state at Middletown, on the ground that it is a trust. This suit will also be filed in the supreme court.

The Appraisement Reduced.

AKRON, Feb. 20.—H. C. Corson, M. O'Neil and H. M. Hollinger, appraisers of the property of the Akron Street Railway and Illuminating company, made their report. A valuation of $695,500 is placed on the assets of the company. The first appraisement was for $932,686.63. This was considered too high and embarrassed the plans for reorganization. It included $500,000 for franchises, and this is probably the place where the reduction chiefly fell.

Thieves Ransacked Brice Mansion.

LIMA, O., Feb. 20.—Thieves ransacked the residence of the late Calvin S. Brice, in this city, to which it is supposed many valuables had been shipped from the Brice residence in New York. Mrs. Meilly, mother of Mrs. Brice, who occupied the home here, is out of the city, and Mrs. Brice is in New York, so that the amount of goods stolen is not known. Much damage was done to the furnishings of the house by the thieves.

MILLER WON THE RACE.

Gimm Retired Before It Was Over. Dropped to Fifth Place.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—The six-day race was ended at 10:15 last night. The contestants were all on the track except Gimm, who retired about 8 p. m. and did not return.

The final score was as follows: Miller, 2,192 miles; Aaronson, 2,146; Fredericks, 2,090 miles and 2 laps; Hale, 2,062; Gimm, 2,000; Nawn, 2,012-2; Alberts, 1,828-2; Barnaby, 1,792-7; Pilkington, 1,729; Lawson, 1,635-4; Julius, 1,501-4; Ashinger, 1,500-6.

PROTEST OF WORKMEN

Want Sunday Work Stopped In Pittsburg Mills.

A BIG MASSMEETING WAS HELD.

President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association One of the Speakers and Vice President Collier Presided—Rev. Dr. Webb Spoke—Resolutions Adopted.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 20.—The meeting held in the Bijou theater under the auspices of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and the Federation of Churches of Pittsburg, Allegheny City and vicinity was the most radical protest ever made in this city against Sunday labor in the mills. About 1,200 workmen were present and a number of ladies participated in the meeting. A few millowners occupied prominent positions, but the attendance from this class was not large.

For some time an effort has been in progress to insure to the millworkers of this vicinity one day's rest in seven. Theodore J. Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated association, said that while the larger establishments which demand labor on Sunday had not changed their custom in this respect, many of the smaller establishments had been induced to refrain from inaugurating such methods of work.

W. S. Collier, vice president of the first district of the Amalgamated association, presided. An opening prayer was offered by Rev. C. Fitzwilliam, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church. Many of the leading ministers of the two cities occupied seats on the platform.

Rev. W. C. Webb, D. D., of Philadelphia, at present the field secretary of the Federation of Churches, discussed "The Workingman's Sunday."

President Shaffer also spoke and strong resolutions were adopted.

MANY CHINESE KILLED.

Serious Conflict Said to Have Occurred With Russians.

PEKIN, Feb. 20.—A serious conflict has taken place between the Russians and Chinese at Takenwan, 300 of the latter being killed. It is said to have originated in a question of taxes.

JONES STICKS TO SILVER.

Declared the Chicago Platform Would Be Again Adopted by Democrats.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Senator Jas. K. Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is not in accord with Mr. Croker of New York and Mr. Wall of Wisconsin regarding the paramount issue in the next presidential campaign. He said in part:

"To say that the next Democratic national convention will reaffirm the position taken by the convention in 1896 is to assert what every candid man, even slightly familiar with existing facts, knows to be true. It is as certain as anything human can be that the question of bimetalism will be the leading issue in the campaign next year. And it is reasonable to expect that the majority of the people will next time declare for the party which means what it says and will redeem its pledges, and that they will not again be tricked into casting their votes in favor of the enemies of the principles in which they believe."

He said that the Republicans' declaration for international bimetalism caused some bimetalists to vote the Republican ticket. The business boom he declared was due to the war.

TO PROTECT NAVAL BOYS.

Secretary Long Told Why Sale of Beer Was Stopped on Ships.

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—In regard to the recent order of the navy department prohibiting the sale of beer on ships of the navy, Secretary Long in an interview said the order was issued principally for the protection of apprentice boys in the service. Said he in part:

"It is not true that any society outside the service caused the issuing of the order. It was done at the solicitation of naval officers themselves, who were actuated by a sense of duty to the service. The sale of beer on shipboard was regarded by many of them as an evil and they sought to abate it."

It also, he declared, removed a temptation from the men.

Shirt Company Failed.

LEOMINSTER, Mass., Feb. 20.—The Leominster shirt company made an assignment to D. Curtis Nickerson. The liabilities are $150,000, the heaviest creditors being New York parties. The company was started 18 years ago and for a long time employed 600 hands, making 500 dozen shirts a week.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Columbia theater was well filled at a meeting held under the auspices of societies of the Sons of the Revolution and of the American Revolution in aid of the fund for the proposed statue of Lafayette to be erected by Americans in Paris.

The passage of the Cockrell bill would discharge at once all the volunteer quartermasters, medical officers, commissaries, many of whom are officers of the regular army, holding volunteer commissions, and would leave the department with a corps of staff officers wholly inadequate with the increased demands that are being made from every quarter.

"The natives of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines do not understand our purposes and ways of government sufficiently to admit of their being made part of our military establishment to the extent of organizing them into companies, battalions and regiments at once. Our officers of greatest experience with them are of this opinion. In time this could doubtless be done, but it will require education."

FATAL ACCIDENTS.

Man Killed in a Runaway, Near Linden. Another Met Death While Loading Logs.

TIFFIN, Feb. 20.—William Balcan, living near Linden, was killed in a runaway while returning home from church. His team took fright at a passing freight train. His wife was seriously, if not fatally injured.

FINLAY, Feb. 20.—Porter Cooper, while loading logs on a car, was struck by a log. His skull was fractured and he was instantly killed.

MILLER'S BODY ARRIVED.

Remains Laid in State in Akron on Sunday.

AKRON, Feb. 20.—The remains of Lewis Miller arrived in Akron from New York about 7 o'clock Sunday morning over the Erie railroad and was at once taken to the First M. E. church, where they laid in state until 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. A. Edison were among those accompanying the body.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock by Rev. F. C. Haddock, pastor of the First M. E. church, assisted by Bishop J. H. Vincent and President Harper of the Chicago university. A memorial service will be conducted at the First M. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Addresses will be made by George W. Crouse, Bishop Vincent and President Harper, who will represent the Chautauqua association, and others.

ANOTHER SUIT BROUGHT.

Monnett Moved Against a Refining Company.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 20.—Attorney General Monnett brought suit in the supreme court to oust the Argand Refining company of Marietta from the state on the grounds of non-user of its charter and removal of its place of business from Marietta to 26 Broadway, New York.

He will go after the Continental Tobacco company, which is doing business in this state at Middletown, on the ground that it is a trust. This suit will also be filed in the supreme court.

The Appraisal Reduced.

AKRON, Feb. 20.—H. C. Corson, M. O'Neil and H. M. Hollinger, appraisers of the property of the Akron Street Railway and Illuminating company, made their report. A valuation of $695,500 is placed on the assets of the company. The first appraisal was for $932,686.63. This was considered too high and embarrassed the plans for reorganization. It included $500,000 for franchises, and this is probably the place where the reduction chiefly fell.

Thieves Ransacked Brice Mansion.

LIMA, O., Feb. 20.—Thieves ransacked the residence of the late Calvin S. Brice, in this city, to which it is supposed many valuables had been shipped from the Brice residence in New York. Mrs. Meilly, mother of Mrs. Brice, who occupied the home here, is out of the city, and Mrs. Brice is in New York, so that the amount of goods stolen is not known. Much damage was done to the furnishings of the house by the thieves.

The final score was as follows: Miller, 2,192 miles; Aaronson, 2,146; Fredricks, 2,090 miles and 2 laps; Hale, 2,062; Gimm, 2,000; Nawn, 2,012-2; Alberts, 1,828-2; Barnaby, 1,792-7; Pilkington, 1,729; Lawson, 1,635-4; Julius, 1,501-4; Ashinger, 1,500-6.

PROTEST OF WORKMEN

Want Sunday Work Stopped in Pittsburg Mills.

A BIG MASSMEETING WAS HELD.

President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association One of the Speakers and Vice President Collier Presided—Rev. Dr. Webb Spoke—Resolutions Adopted.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 20.—The meeting held in the Bijou theater under the auspices of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and the Federation of Churches of Pittsburg, Allegheny City and vicinity was the most radical protest ever made in this city against Sunday labor in the mills. About 1,200 workmen were present and a number of ladies participated in the meeting. A few millowners occupied prominent positions, but the attendance from this class was not large.

For some time an effort has been in progress to insure to the millworkers of this vicinity one day's rest in seven. Theodore J. Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated association, said that while the larger establishments which demand labor on Sunday had not changed their custom in this respect, many of the smaller establishments had been induced to refrain from inaugurating such methods of work.

W. S. Collier, vice president of the first district of the Amalgamated association, presided. An opening prayer was offered by Rev. C. Fitzwilliam, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church. Many of the leading ministers of the two cities occupied seats on the platform.

Rev. W. C. Webb, D. D., of Philadelphia, at present the field secretary of the Federation of Churches, discussed "The Workingman's Sunday."

President Shaffer also spoke and strong resolutions were adopted.

MANY CHINESE KILLED.

Serious Conflict Said to Have Occurred With Russians.

PEKIN, Feb. 20.—A serious conflict has taken place between the Russians and Chinese at Tashenwan, 300 of the latter being killed. It is said to have originated in a question of taxes.

JONES STICKS TO SILVER.

Declared the Chicago Platform Would Be Again Adopted by Democrats.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Senator Jas. K. Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is not in accord with Mr. Croker of New York and Mr. Wall of Wisconsin regarding the paramount issue in the next presidential campaign. He said in part:

"To say that the next Democratic national convention will reaffirm the position taken by the convention in 1896 is to assert what every candid man, even slightly familiar with existing facts, knows to be true. It is as certain as anything human can be that the question of bimetalism will be the leading issue in the campaign next year. And it is reasonable to expect that the majority of the people will next time declare for the party which means what it says and will redeem its pledges, and that they will not again be tricked into casting their votes in favor of the enemies of the principles in which they believe."

He said that the Republicans' declaration for international bimetalism caused some bimetalists to vote the Republican ticket. The business boom he declared was due to the war.

TO PROTECT NAVAL BOYS.

Secretary Long Told Why Sale of Beer Was Stopped on Ships.

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—In regard to the recent order of the navy department prohibiting the sale of beer on ships of the navy, Secretary Long in an interview said the order was issued principally for the protection of apprentice boys in the service. Said he in part:

"It is not true that any society outside the service caused the issuing of the order. It was done at the solicitation of naval officers themselves, who were actuated by a sense of duty to the service. The sale of beer on shipboard was regarded by many of them as an evil and they sought to abate it."

It also, he declared, removed a temptation from the men.

Shirt Company Failed.

LEOMINSTER, Mass., Feb. 20.—The Leominster Shirt company made an assignment to D. Curtis Nickerson. The liabilities are $150,000, the heaviest creditors being New York parties. The company was started 18 years ago and for a long time employed 600 hands, making 500 dozen shirts a week.

PILAR MAY BE SHOT.

CHURCH ABANDONED AND BURNED.

The Californians Retired and Took Up Another Position—Gunboats Failed to Dislodge Natives From a Position They Held—Weather Getting Very Hot.

MANILA, Feb. 20.—The enemy have apparently realized the hopelessness of attacking the American position and are occupied chiefly by occasional sharp-shooting from the jungle whenever feasible. Fortunately their ignorance of the use of sights minimizes the effect of their guerrilla tactics.

The retirement of General King's advance posts upon San Pedro Macati has evidently been construed by the rebels as a sign of weakness, as they pressed forward along both sides of the river, persistently harassing the occupants of the town.

MANILA, Feb. 20.—The California volunteers abandoned Guadalupe church, which was afterward set on fire, and retired to San Pedro Macati. The rebels held the country in the vicinity of Guadalupe, Pasig and Patero, despite the efforts of the gunboats to dislodge them from the jungle on both sides of the river.

The heat was intense and increasing perceptibly daily. Under the conditions it was impossible to provide shade for the troops in certain parts of the line, particularly McArthur's division. King's brigade was also exposed from San Pedro Macati to Culiculi, where it joined Overshine's brigade.

Mr. Higgins, the manager of the Manila-Dagupan railroad, was believed to be safe at Bayambang, although no communication had been received from him since Feb. 9. He was then housed at Mr. Clarke's place, with his wife and family and about six other Englishmen, some of whom were accompanied by their wives. While it was unlikely that the natives of the locality would harm them, it was feared that others from distant provinces might wreak vengeance at their expense.

In view of the fact that the enemy were concentrating on the American right flank, preparations were made Saturday night to give them a warm reception in the event of attack. General Overshine's line, consisting originally of the North Dakota volunteers, Fourteenth infantry and two troops of the Fourth cavalry, stretching from the beach at Camp Dewey to Gen. King's right, was reinforced by two battalions of Oregon volunteers and three troops of the Fourth cavalry as infantry.

The Buffalo's searchlight, discovering the rebels unusually active, about 10 o'clock in the evening, signalled the flagship for permission to fire upon them; and this being granted, bombarded the enemy's trenches for 20 minutes. The only effect of the fire was apparently to drive the rebels further inland.

Beyond a few ineffectual volleys from the trenches, which were returned with interest, the enemy made no demonstration and all was quiet along the rest of the line.

Scouts claimed to have seen General Pio del Pilar, who commanded the rebels at Patero, with his arm in a sling, directing the troops. General Montenegro, the insurgent commander-in-chief, was reported to have been personally conducting the movements in front of General King's line at San Pedro Macati.

MORE PORTO RICANS RESIGN.

General Henry Had Threatened to Jail Them.

SAN JUAN DE PORTO RICO, Feb. 20.—The mayor and a majority of the municipal council of San Juan tendered their resignations.

A few days ago the question of killing cattle for municipal consumption was referred to Gen. G. V. Henry, governor general of Porto Rico, by consent of all the parties interested. After an investigation General Henry issued an order regarding the matter and the mayor and members of the council declared that they would resign before complying with the governor's decree. General Henry, annoyed by their quarreling and childish actions, told them that if they did not stop trifling and obey orders he would have them imprisoned. Resignations followed.

RIOTING IN PARIS.

Loubet Was Elected President of the Republic—Demonstrations Against Him.

PARIS, Feb. 20.—Police measures for the maintenance of order were taken on an extensive scale. M. Loubet was elected president Saturday.

Demonstrations occurred last evening in front of the office of Sebastian Faure's anarchist paper, Le Journal du Peuple, on the Boulevard Montmartre, for and against Loubet.

There was a collision between the rival factions and several persons were injured. The partisans of the newly elected president were worsted in the conflict and moved off to the Cafe Brebant, where they were again attacked and dispersed by their opponents. Many arrests were made.

Similar encounters occurred at the office of Le Libre Parole.

M. Loubet was elected at the first balloting by 483 votes. There were altogether 817 voters out of 883 members of the assembly. The announcement was received with long and enthusiastic applause by all the Republicans, even including the 270 of their number who voted for Melne.

This shows that Loubet will be vigorously supported by the Republicans of every shade of opinion. The Republican demonstration completely drowned the frantic yells of derision uttered by the Nationalists, headed by Deroulede and Drumont. Then the new president, escorted by a squadron of cavalry, got into a carriage and drove out between the superb gateway of the palace of Versailles.

He came by train to this city and was received with military honors. Amid renewed acclamations from the crowds the president proceeded to the Elysee palace, in order to pay a tribute of respect to the remains of the late President Faure. He then went to the foreign office, where he received the high officials of state and the diplomatic corps.

As the presidential carriage left the St. Lazare station a band of 30 or 40 persons ranged themselves on either side of the landau under the leadership of a couple of individuals who kept giving signals for shouts of "down with Loubet!" and "resign! resign!" The general public was apparently indifferent, and no active hostility was displayed. Many in the crowd saluted the president and cried "vive Loubet!" and "vive l'armee!" but the shouts of the demonstrators running beside the carriage drowned the friendly salutations.

The noise and excitement were redoubled when the carriage stopped at the Elysee. Here two compact, hostile groups were massed, hooting and blowing whistles. M. Loubet and Dupuy spent about 10 minutes with Mme. Faure and then proceeded to the Quai d'Orsay. On his journey thither M. Loubet was more favorably received by the public.

LIEUT. CASTNER'S HEROISM.

Awful Hardships on His Trip In Alaska. Narrowly Escaped Starvation and Death.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 20.—Advices from Dawson said that Lieutenant Castner of the Fourth United States infantry, who started almost a year ago from the southern coast of Alaska to explore the interior and find, if possible, an all American trail to the Yukon, arrived there. Finding the trail they had believed to exist impassable, Lieutenant Castner and two companions started to reach civilization. They put their provisions, guns, etc., on a raft and set it afloat on the Tanana river. The raft was wrecked the second day and all the provisions, rifles, axes, etc., lost.

All that was saved was a coil of rope. With the rope another raft was built, and for six days the three men floated down the river, living on berries and roseapples. They were without shoes or moccasins, their feet being covered by canvas tied with strings. Just as hope was almost gone the party drifted into an encampment of Tanana Indians. Here they were hospitably received and fed, and after resting were guided to a camp of white men, 100 miles up the stream, where the party rested until a boat could carry them to the Yukon.

PLEA FOR THE ARMY.

A Statement Issued by the War Department.

THE HULL BILL SUPPORTED.

Defects Pointed Out in the Measure Advocated by Senator Cockrell—Natives, It Was Declared, Cannot at Present Be Utilized as Soldiers in New Islands.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—A statement from the war department on pending army legislation and the needs of the service was issued with a request for publication. It referred to the two bills before congress. Of the Hull bill it said in part:

"The measure preserves the present organization and slightly strengthens the cavalry, augments the artillery and organizes that arm on a scientific basis suited to our conditions, gives to the infantry the much needed three battalion organization and makes only such additions to the staff as are absolutely indispensable. Under its provisions entrance to any branch of the army cannot be obtained until after the candidate for a commission has demonstrated his fitness for it to the satisfaction of a competent examining board. There is a clause empowering the president to extend or contract the enlisted strength according to the necessities of the country, providing for the first time a scheme adopted long since for all modern European military systems."

The statement further said in part:

"The other bill is brought forward by Senator Cockrell. Its first section directs the disbandment of the volunteer army within a specified period after the peace treaty shall have been ratified by Spain. Sections two and three contain its principal provisions. By the former authority is conferred for continuing the regular army at its war strength until July 1, 1901, while the third section authorizes the president to raise military forces to the number of 35,000 in Cuba, Porto Rico and the islands of the Pacific, to be known, respectively, as the army of Cuba, the army of Porto Rico and the army of the islands of the Pacific, to be composed of the inhabitants of such islands. No organization is provided in the bill for this force, nor does it determine what relation it shall sustain toward the permanent military establishment of the United States; and no professional, educational, or other test is prescribed for the persons who are to officer it. The bill does not provide for any additional general officers, greatly needed in the administration of affairs in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

"Cuba now constitutes a military division, commanded by a major general and moreover comprises six military departments, commanded by general officers of volunteers. In Porto Rico there is a necessity for at least one general officer, and in the Philippines for an army corps, so that if Senator Cockrell's bill should become a law it would leave the army deficient not only in enlisted force, but without any general officers to administer the important duties now devolving upon the government.

"The criticism that has been passed upon the department has been the absence of sufficiently trained staff officers. The Cockrell amendment would perpetuate this alleged lameness.

"Should his bill be passed into law the adjutant, inspector, quartermaster, subsistence, medical and pay departments would be left with only the bare skeleton of the staff organizations that we have had for the administering of affairs in the United States alone previous to the declaration of war with Spain.

"The returns of the war department show the strength of the regular army, at this time, to be only a few less than 60,000 enlisted men. Of these there are nearly 14,000 in Cuba and a like number in or enroute to the Philippines, and in Porto Rico 4,586, leaving the total enlisted men of the regular army in the United States 24,000. Of these 6,000 are held in readiness for dispatch to reinforce the army at Manila. This would leave the total enlisted strength of the army within the United States less than 18,000, or nearly 4,000 less than is necessary to furnish a single relief to man the guns now on our seacoast fortifications. It would compel the abandonment of all our posts in the interior.

would strip the Indian country of troops and leave none to supply the requirements of an exigent condition.

"At this time there is not an officer on duty with any college in the United States.

"Neither has it (the department) been able to attach officers to our embassies and legations abroad. There should be one at every European capital, there are now but three in all, and those who were recalled to participate in the war cannot be returned.

"The passage of the Hawley bill would enable the department to meet this urgent requirement and also to re-establish the schools at Fort Leavenworth, the artillery school at Fort Monroe and the cavalry and light artillery school at Fort Riley, all of which are now closed for the want of officers. The passage of the Cockrell bill would discharge at once all the volunteer quartermasters, medical officers, commissaries, many of whom are officers of the regular army, holding volunteer commissions, and would leave the department with a corps of staff officers wholly inadequate with the increased demands that are being made from every quarter.

"The natives of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines do not understand our purposes and ways of government sufficiently to admit of their being made part of our military establishment to the extent of organizing them into companies, battalions and regiments at once. Our officers of greatest experience with them are of this opinion. In time this could doubtless be done, but it will require education."

WENT AFTER BLAKE

Anti-Saloon Orators Related the Story

OF HIS WORK LAST WINTER

When He Introduced a Bill Repealing Important Temperance Legislation, and Voted For Other Bad Bills—Interesting Services.

Anti-Saloon League Sunday was observed in the city yesterday, Superintendent P. A. Baker, Assistant Superintendent G. J. Raynor and Prof. T. W. Karr having charge of the services. The most important part of each meeting was the manner in which the gentlemen scored Senator W. V. Blake and Representative Ashford for the part they had taken in liquor legislation, the keenest sarcasm being leveled at the guilty ones while the story of their action was being related.

FIRST U. P. CHURCH.

Superintendent Baker Showed Councilmanic Responsibility.

Mr. Baker said: "It was said long ago 'Woe to a man that buildeth a town with blood.' If God were to utter it today he would say 'woe to the council that buildeth a town with blood.' I say this because the general assembly of Ohio has delegated the control of the liquor business to the councils of municipalities. They have autocratic power, save in the increase of the tax, and can close saloons at any hour, remove screens, provide for one room with but one entrance or abolish the sale of liquor within their jurisdiction. Every drunken wife and starving child, every groan and pain caused by the liquor shop can be traced directly to the council that created it. Ex-president Harrison recently said that the greatest peril of this country lay in the fact that men elected to executive positions took upon themselves the duties of the legislative and judicial. We have an example in Columbus where the mayor enforces such laws as he sees fit. Not long ago congress ordered the President to declare war against another nation. We all know the President didn't believe every resource of diplomacy had been exhausted, but if he had not done as congress demanded every patriotic citizen would say he was guilty of treason and should be impeached. If your mayor refuses to enforce the law he is guilty of civil treason as the President would have been guilty of national treason. We become enthusiastic over national politics, but how often do we pray for God to direct the council, the mayor or even the policeman who paces past our door? If you would destroy political bosses and municipal misrule, destroy the saloon. The church is the remedy. No other organization can grapple with the evil. Organized sin must be met by organized righteousness. The church is a perfect organization, but collectively a rope of sand; singly the saloon is nothing, but when threatened it is a power. Why don't we get together? Because we can't distinguish between politics and partisanship. I don't believe in the minister who talks partisanship from his pulpit, nor in one who does not talk politics.

"I didn't want to come to Columbiana county, because the samples of your people you had sent to the legislature were so bad, but when I look into the honest faces here I know you sent the poorest you had."

Mr. Baker then went over the record of Senator Blake in the last legislature, showing that he had introduced the bill to repeal the law prohibiting the sale of liquor within two miles of an agricultural fair when no other man could be found to do it, and had voted for the repeal of the Adair law. He also paid his respects to Representative Ashford.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Gilbert J. Raynor Sent Shots In Every Direction.

Assistant Superintendent Gilbert J. Raynor had charge of the services at the First M. E. church and delivered a very interesting address. The speaker took for his text, "Thy Kingdom Come," and said that the mighty move for the federation of all the churches in the great work was tending toward building up the kingdom. He told how the Anti-Saloon league had commenced its career five years ago in Oberlin with a few Christian men, but today it was organized in 22 states in the union, and it was hoped that in another year every state in the union would have an organized anti-saloon movement. He spoke of how in Toledo the first year of the organization but eight churches had been willing to permit meetings in their churches, but this year every church in the city had opened their doors to the representatives of the league. He spoke of the league working in harmony with all temperance organizations, and stated that anything that calls attention to the liquor traffic was an argument against it.

He spoke of the Akron case, and told how the saloonkeeper hated to have his business advertised, because he was in crime. He spoke of how Harry Mason was elected speaker of the house at a cost of $40,000, and of the various liquor bills introduced in the legislature, and in speaking of the one repealing the right to sell liquor within two miles of a fair ground said: "I wish I didn't have to say it, but the senator from this county introduced the bill to repeal that law. My respect for the so-called decency of the Ohio legislature went down when it was possible for a man to stoop so low as to do that. I cannot trust myself to say more on that subject. We are going to show the legislators there is a church vote in the state as well as a saloon vote."

Reverend Baker occupied the pulpit in the evening, and made an address even more stirring than that given at the First U. P. church in the morning. Among other things he said:

"We have all been surprised to find such a splendid moral sentiment here as in Cleveland, but in each city there is a newspaper with a moral backbone."

Mr. Raynor occupied the pulpit at the Methodist Protestant church last night, and delivered a characteristic address. The afternoon meeting at the Young Men's Christian association was largely attended and decidedly interesting.

All the party remained in the city today, and this evening an illustrated lecture will be given at the First Presbyterian church. The public is cordially invited.

AN IMPORTANT EVENT

Will Be the Meeting of the Steubenville Presbytery.

TO BE HELD HERE IN APRIL

A Large Amount of Business Will Be Transacted—Shakespearean Class Tonight. Not Badly Hurt—James Cochran Stricken by Paralysis—Pottery In Operation.

The spring meeting of the Steubenville Presbytery of the United Presbyterian church will meet in the Second U. P. church early in April. It is the regular quarterly session and will be in charge of Moderator Hanna, of Steubenville. The sessions will last one day and two evenings, the opening session being a regular church meeting. There is much business to transact and the meeting is expected to cause a large number of strangers to come to East End.

James Cochran Very Ill.

James Cochran, aged 50 years, suffered a stroke of paralysis at his home at Dry Run Saturday morning. His condition today was such that the physicians have little hope for his recovery.

Several weeks ago Mr. Cochran suffered a stroke and since that time has been declining rapidly. He is one of the best known residents of this part of the city and is respected by all who know him.

Few Vacant Houses.

At present there are very few vacant houses in this part of the city. Several were vacated last week and already their owners have received a number of applications for the buildings from parties living in the city. The rents are very low considering the kind of houses which are vacant and before the week ends they will no doubt be occupied.

Cecil Fair Recovering.

Cecil Fair, who was a member of Company E, but honorably discharged from the service during the stay of the regiment in Columbus, has been seriously ill at the home of Fireman Terrence for several weeks, suffering with fever. His condition now is much improved, and within a few days he will be able to be out.

Mrs. Pierce Is Better.

The condition of Mrs. Pierce, of St. George street, is much improved. It will be remembered Mrs. Pierce fell on the sidewalk in Mulberry street recently and seriously injured her right leg and badly bruised the back of her head. There was considerable ice on the pavement when she fell.

Resumed Work.

The kilnmen of the East End pottery resumed work this morning after being idle a number of weeks. The dippers commenced work Saturday morning in order that other departments might resume today. The company has a number of large orders on hand, and a steady run is anticipated.

A Bicycle Club.

It is probable a bicycle club will be organized within the next month. A number of young men have been talking the matter over and some interest is being aroused. Should an organization be formed rooms will be procured and regular work to last during the summer will be mapped out.

Decorating The Station.

A number of new pictures have been recently added to the collection at the fire station. Fireman Terrence is taking just pride in keeping the place in the best condition possible, and a decided improvement in the appearance of the station is noticeable.

Shakespearean Class Tonight.

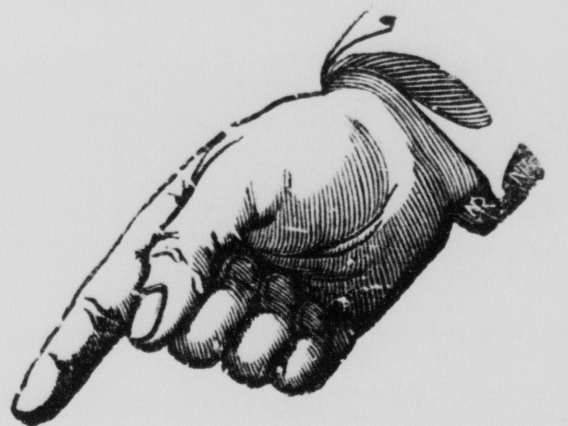

The Shakespearean class will meet this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Weeks, Pennsylvania avenue. The club is composed of some of the most prominent people in this part of the city. Hamlet will be discussed tonight.

Not Badly Hurt.

William Lewellen, of Wise addition, who was severely injured several days ago by a horse, is recovering rapidly. His injuries were not as serious as at first thought, and he will be able to be out within a few days.

Painters at Work.

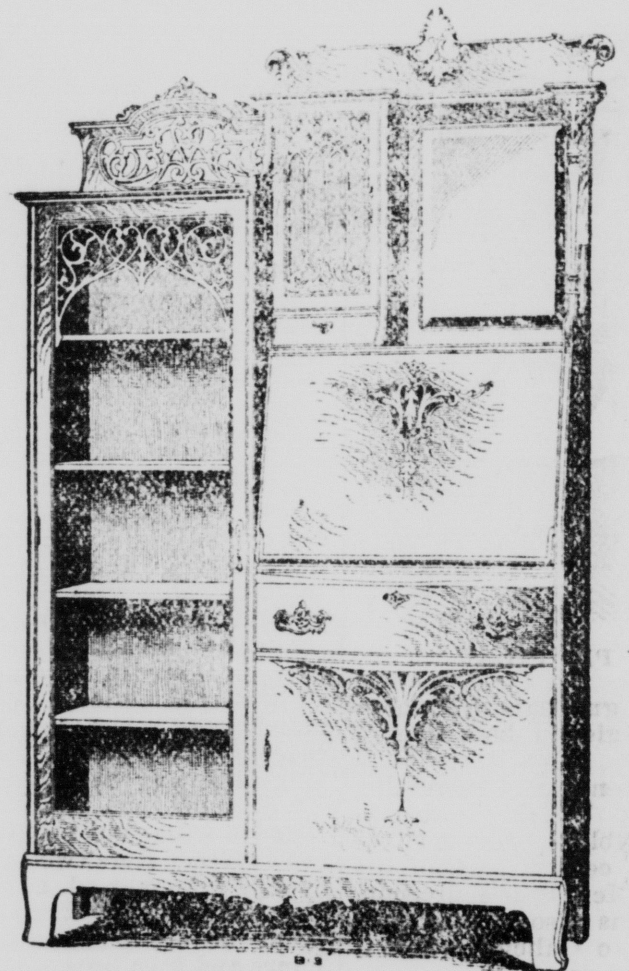

Painters this morning began work on the Second U. P. church and within a short time the building will be completed in detail. The carpenters finished their work Saturday night.

WENT AFTER BLAKE

Anti-Saloon Orators Related the Story

OF HIS WORK LAST WINTER

When He Introduced a Bill Repealing Important Temperance Legislation, and Voted For Other Bad Bills—Interesting Services.

Anti-Saloon League Sunday was observed in the city yesterday, Superintendent P. A. Baker, Assistant Superintendent G. J. Raynor and Prof. T. W. Karr having charge of the services. The most important part of each meeting was the manner in which the gentlemen scored Senator W. V. Blake and Representative Ashford for the part they had taken in liquor legislation, the keenest sarcasm being leveled at the guilty ones while the story of their action was being related.

FIRST U. P. CHURCH.

Superintendent Baker Showed Councilmanic Responsibility.

Mr. Baker said: "It was said long ago 'Woe to a man that buildeth a town with blood.' If God were to utter it today he would say 'woe to the council that buildeth a town with blood.' I say this because the general assembly of Ohio has delegated the control of the liquor business to the councils of municipalities. They have autocratic power, save in the increase of the tax, and can close saloons at any hour, remove screens, provide for one room with but one entrance or abolish the sale of liquor within their jurisdiction. Every drunken wife and starving child, every groan and pain caused by the liquor shop can be traced directly to the council that created it. Ex-president Harrison recently said that the greatest peril of this country lay in the fact that men elected to executive positions took upon themselves the duties of the legislative and judicial. We have an example in Columbus where the mayor enforces such laws as he sees fit. Not long ago congress ordered the President to declare war against another nation. We all know the President didn't believe every resource of diplomacy had been exhausted, but if he had not done as congress demanded every patriotic citizen would say he was guilty of treason and should be impeached. If your mayor refuses to enforce the law he is guilty of civil treason as the President would have been guilty of national treason. We become enthusiastic over national politics, but how often do we pray for God to direct the council, the mayor or even the policeman who paces past our door? If you would destroy political bosses and municipal misrule, destroy the saloon. The church is the remedy. No other organization can grapple with the evil. Organized sin must be met by organized righteousness. The church is a perfect organization, but collectively a rope of sand; singly the saloon is nothing, but when threatened it is a power. Why don't we get together? Because we can't distinguish between politics and partisanship. I don't believe in the minister who talks partisanship from his pulpit, nor in one who does not talk politics.

"I didn't want to come to Columbiana county, because the samples of your people you had sent to the legislature were so bad, but when I look into the honest faces here I know you sent the poorest you had."

Mr. Baker then went over the record of Senator Blake in the last legislature, showing that he had introduced the bill to repeal the law prohibiting the sale of liquor within two miles of an agricultural fair when no other man could be found to do it, and had voted for the repeal of the Adair law. He also paid his respects to Representative Ashford.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Gilbert J. Raynor Sent Shots In Every Direction.

Assistant Superintendent Gilbert J. Raynor had charge of the services at the First M. E. church and delivered a very interesting address. The speaker took for his text, "Thy Kingdom Come," and said that the mighty move for the federation of all the churches in the great work was tending toward building up the kingdom. He told how the Anti-Saloon league had commenced its career five years ago in Oberlin with a few Christian men, but today it was organized in 22 states in the union, and it was hoped that in another year every state in the union would have an organized anti-saloon movement. He spoke of how in Toledo the first year of the organization but eight churches had been willing to permit meetings in their churches, but this year every church in the city had opened their doors to the representatives of the league. He spoke of the league working in harmony with all temperance organizations, and stated that anything that calls attention to the liquor traffic was an argument against it.

He spoke of the Akron case, and told how the saloonkeeper hated to have his business advertised, because he was in crime. He spoke of how Harry Mason was elected speaker of the house at a cost of $40,000, and of the various liquor bills introduced in the legislature, and in speaking of the one repealing the right to sell liquor within two miles of a fair ground said: "I wish I didn't have to say it, but the senator from this county introduced the bill to repeal that law. ROBBED A LITTLE GIRL

A Big Man Caught Her In the Diamond,

PUT HIS HAND OVER HER MOUTH

And Took From Her Pocketbook the 60 Cents It Contained—Then He Returned the Pocketbook and Disappeared—Description of the Man.

One of the boldest robberies ever committed in the city took place Saturday evening near the Diamond.

Annie, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gibson, 115 Pleasant street, about 5:30 Saturday afternoon was sent to a store in the Diamond by her mother.

She had gone to the store and purchased what she wanted and was standing on the sidewalk preparatory to going home when a man approached her and asked her to take a note to Second street and he would pay her for it. She refused and he caught hold of her and started with her along Fifth street. When Washington street was reached he caught her and held his hand over her mouth while he took her pocketbook. She broke away and ran as soon as he released his grip, but the fellow followed her and handed her the pocketbook. He had, however, taken from it the 60 cents which it contained.

The little girl started for her home crying, and when she reached the corner of Sixth and Franklin streets quite a crowd of men and women had gathered and numerous remarks were made, and it would have gone hard with the thief if he had fallen into their hands.

The girl was unable to describe the thief beyond the fact that he was not very tall and had curly hair and wore a brown coat and hat. She was badly frightened, and her only thought was to escape. The police were not notified of the affair.

THE CARNIVAL.

Executive Committee of the Elks Are Working Hard.

The executive committee of the Elks met Saturday evening and made arrangements for a pottery exhibit connected with which will be a miniature pottery, and visitors will be given a souvenir which they will have the privilege of seeing made.

It is also proposed to issue a centennial souvenir giving a complete history of the city, while free platform entertainments will be given every evening during the carnival. The local exhibits will be thoroughly up to date and the star attraction of the carnival will be greatly strengthened as the manager, Kabeeb Katool, started last week for Algiers and Egypt to secure additions to the menagerie, while a contract has just been signed with La Belle Rosa, the celebrated Turkish dancer. All the side show features of the carnival will be eliminated.

BUSINESS FALLING OFF.

Rising Temperature Made the Township Trustees Happy.

Business at the office of the township trustees showed a decided falling off Saturday and today, causing joy in the hearts of the officials.

It is noticed that when the temperature rises the demands on the resources of the trustees usually decrease, and the present is no exception. It is always a welcome relief, for the trustees are ever endeavoring to reduce their expense list.

NO ONE WOULD FIGHT

With a Youth Anxious to Win Pugilistic Honors.

A young man under the influence of liquor created some excitement in the Diamond late Saturday night by declaring that he could whip anything on earth. He was very anxious to fight, and an effort was made to accommodate him, but nobody could be secured to meet him in pitched battle.

BULLET PROOF CUIRASS.

French Invention Not Penetrated by Mauser Bullet at Seventy Yards.

Remarkable experiments with a new cuirass constructed by a French inventor named Threand were made at Asnieres, four miles from Paris, the other day. The essential portion of the cuirass is a sheet of metal, the composition of which is a secret. The plate is fitted with an inner and an outer lining, the nature of which is also a secret. The manner in which the linings are fixed is said to add to their impenetrability.

The weight of the cuirass is about 7 pounds 14 ounces. A Mauser rifle of six millimeter caliber was employed in the test at a distance of 70 yards. The shot struck the cuirass in the center. The front of the cuirass was found to be torn, but the indentation of the metal plate was very slight, while the back lining was intact. "In a word," the report of the experiments says, "the impenetrability of the cuirass was proved to be perfect."—Special cable to New York Sun.

ROBBED A LITTLE GIRL

A Big Man Caught Her In the Diamond,

PUT HIS HAND OVER HER MOUTH

And Took From Her Pocketbook the 60 Cents It Contained—Then He Returned the Pocketbook and Disappeared—Description of the Man.

One of the boldest robberies ever committed in the city took place Saturday evening near the Diamond.

Annie, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gibson, 115 Pleasant street, about 5:30 Saturday afternoon was sent to a store in the Diamond by her mother.

She had gone to the store and purchased what she wanted and was standing on the sidewalk preparatory to going home when a man approached her and asked her to take a note to Second street and he would pay her for it. She refused and he caught hold of her and started with her along Fifth street. When Washington street was reached he caught her and held his hand over her mouth while he took her pocketbook. She broke away and ran as soon as he released his grip, but the fellow followed her and handed her the pocketbook. He had, however, taken from it the 60 cents which it contained.

The little girl started for her home crying, and when she reached the corner of Sixth and Franklin streets quite a crowd of men and women had gathered and numerous remarks were made, and it would have gone hard with the thief if he had fallen into their hands.

The girl was unable to describe the thief beyond the fact that he was not very tall and had curly hair and wore a brown coat and hat. She was badly frightened, and her only thought was to escape. The police were not notified of the affair.

THE CARNIVAL.

Executive Committee of the Elks Are Working Hard.

The executive committee of the Elks met Saturday evening and made arrangements for a pottery exhibit connected with which will be a miniature pottery, and visitors will be given a souvenir which they will have the privilege of seeing made.

It is also proposed to issue a centennial souvenir giving a complete history of the city, while free platform entertainments will be given every evening during the carnival. The local exhibits will be thoroughly up to date and the star attraction of the carnival will be greatly strengthened as the manager, Kabeeb Katool, started last week for Algiers and Egypt to secure additions to the menagerie, while a contract has just been signed with La Belle Rosa, the celebrated Turkish dancer. All the side show features of the carnival will be eliminated.

BUSINESS FALLING OFF.

Rising Temperature Made the Township Trustees Happy.

Business at the office of the township trustees showed a decided falling off Saturday and today, causing joy in the hearts of the officials.

It is noticed that when the temperature rises the demands on the resources of the trustees usually decrease, and the present is no exception. It is always a welcome relief, for the trustees are ever endeavoring to reduce their expense list.

All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns

Good municipal government can only be secured through the election of good men to office. In no other way can every town and city of this country obtain what it most desires.

ONLY ONE NAME.

Whatever may be the feeling of Republicans throughout the country upon some matters growing out of the Spanish war it is evident that but one name is being considered in connection with the next presidential nomination. William McKinley to the present has no opponent. His party realizes that in the time he has filled the position he has earned another term, and the people of the country see in him a man who is not so much politician as he is statesman.

BY THE SWORD.

Civilizing the Filipinos by the sword may not savor of the highest civilization, but it seems to be the only method to reach Aguinaldo and his followers. It will cost, perhaps, not a little in gold and lives, but it will reclaim from savagry a people who deserve something better than their present condition. Churches and schools will quickly follow the army, and a better condition can soon be expected. Uncle Sam never does even little things by halves, and he certainly will make no mistakes now that he has undertaken a gigantic task.

NO INTERFERENCE.

The intimation that the administration would back Judge Nash, of Columbus, in his desire to become governor of Ohio, has not caused the best of feeling in Washington. On the other hand it has quickly brought out the statement that President McKinley will have nothing whatever to do with the nomination and will interfere in behalf of no one.

The President again shows his wisdom. Ohio Republicans want no interference in the selection of their governor. They believe they are competent to look after the matter, and know that with a free field there will be a fair fight for the place. Then, without the claims and counter claims of factional leaders to hamper the campaign, the Republican party can go with solid front against the enemy.

CITY COUNCIL.

Citizens of East Liverpool, conservative and thinking citizens, voters who are wide awake to the fact that we are about to enter an era of prosperity and development, is it not high time that we should have first-class men in our city council chamber? We have some good and true men there—men who are capable, efficient and trustworthy; but we also have some men there at present whose absence therefrom would prove a blessing to the city at large; and it is your duty to see to it that, if they will not voluntarily vacate, and refuse to enter the contest at the coming primaries, they shall be FORCED, by your ballots, into oblivion, while better and truer men occupy the vacated positions.

WM. V. BLAKE'S RECORD.

When William V. Blake made his record at Columbus, it was recorded in God's book of records. Does William V. Blake take pride in that record and rejoice therein? Is it a record in which he may take just pride? Is it a record that will bless the women and children of Ohio? Is it a record that Blake will be proud to have spread broadcast before the people of Columbiana county? He is a public servant, and he was elected to office by the people for the purpose of doing the will of the great majority of his party. Did he do it? The record stands. The blessing or the infamy attached to his vote is a matter for full publicity. Is it such a record as the people of God will sustain? Will all good and true men, loving God and their families, loving this great state and grand nation, cast their votes for William V. Blake, or men of like record, and then stand by the record of their ballots, satisfied that they, the voters, have won God's blessing for time and for eternity? Think, men, think; your record must be made, and answer must be made to the Master.

WANTED MORE MONEY.

But the Bank Clerk Was Firm and Won Out.

Saturday afternoon a man entered a local bank, and asked to be given change for a $10 bill. The young man behind the counter put down the bill and passed the change over the counter. The man at once demanded $10 more saying he had given $20, but the clerk was firm. The argument which followed was not long, but it attracted the attention of everybody in the bank. It ended in the man going out with $10 in change.

Later in the afternoon the individual appeared at the bank, and desired to beg the clerk's pardon, explaining that he had made a mistake.

COLLEGE PRESIDENTS

Will Conduct Services In This Place Next Sunday.

Doctor Weir, president of Scio college, will occupy the pulpit at the First M. E. church next Sunday morning and Doctor Riker, president of Mt. Union college, will occupy the pulpit in the evening.

Reverend Hanna, of Steubenville, will assist Dr. J. C. Taggart in a series of special services that will begin at the First U. P. church next Wednesday evening and continue 10 days.

LARGE AMOUNT OF COAL

Was Moved by Local Dealers Last Week.

It is stated on good authority that more coal was moved from the floats last week than at any time in the history of the city.

From one float 7,000 bushels was moved in one day, while one man hauled 571 in a day, which is thought to be a record breaker.

Bought Fine Horses.

W. H. Surles has purchased a new team of draught horses.

W. N. Bell, of Hancock county, Saturday purchased a handsome dapple gray draught team from a local horseman.

Harrison Rinehart has purchased a fast mare from Steubenville parties.

News From a Soldier.

Edward Hatton, of this city, received word from his brother, a member of the Second Battalion of the Seventeenth infantry, now in New York, that they expected to sail on the transport Sheridan yesterday for Manila by way of the Suez canal. Mr. Hatton is well known here, and has been a member of the regular army for some time.

MR. WARNER WILL NOT TRANSFER

The Share Purchased by the Plaintiff on the Books of the Company, and the American Potteries Company and John R. Dos Passos Are Made Defendants.

LISBON, Feb. 20.—[Special]—W. B. Donaldson, of Steubenville, in a petition filed today alleges that he purchased at sheriff's sale in East Liverpool one share of stock in the Union Co-operative pottery its par value being $100, and J. R. Warner, secretary of the company, whose duty it is to transfer the stock on the books of the company, refuses to do so. The stock therefore is valueless to him. Mr. Donaldson, in addition to the Union, makes the American Potteries company, Mary Barrett and John R. Dos Passos defendants. The parties last named are asked to set up what claim they have in the stock. Mr. Donaldson also wants the company, through its secretary, to transfer the stock and issue to him a certificate.

Caused Much Annoyance to Jethro People.

A crowd of young men, all intoxicated, caused much annoyance to the residents of Jethro who live in the vicinity of the railroad. The men when they emptied one bottle of liquor would take up a collection and send one of their party after another bottle. Their language was vile and their actions could not be described. An officer passed along the road several times during the afternoon but no arrests were made.

A resident of that part of the city stated this morning that he intended to advise Mayor Bough as to the name of the saloonkeeper who sold the liquor.

The Suit of Private Lewis E. Purnell Gave Him a Victory, But Colonel Hard Declares He Will Carry the Case to Supreme Court For Settlement.

The case of Private Lewis E. Purnell against Col. Curtis V. Hard for $100 damages was heard Saturday afternoon in Canton by Justice Reigner.

The plaintiff alleged that Colonel Hard took from him two Spanish machetes and wrongfully appropriated them to his own use. The case was set for Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, but was postponed until the afternoon, and when the hour set for the trial arrived the court room was filled with spectators, the larger portion of them being members of the Eighth regiment. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Thomas F. Turner, who is very well known in the city, having delivered the address at the Elks memorial two years ago, while the defense had Attorneys J. J. Grant and Julius Whiting.

The case consumed a greater part of the afternoon, and in the testimony Colonel Hard said he took the weapons from Purnell in order to discipline him, but the justice could not see it that way, and gave judgment in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $20. Colonel Hard states that he will carry the case to the supreme court if it is necessary.

UNION LABEL. All Union papers of East Liverpool are known to the various craft and unions of the city by the printing of the above Union Labels at the head of their columns

GOOD municipal government can only be secured through the election of good men to office. In no other way can every town and city of this country obtain what it most desires.

ONLY ONE NAME.

Whatever may be the feeling of Republicans throughout the country upon some matters growing out of the Spanish war it is evident that but one name is being considered in connection with the next presidential nomination. William McKinley to the present has no opponent. His party realizes that in the time he has filled the position he has earned another term, and the people of the country see in him a man who is not so much politician as he is statesman.

BY THE SWORD.

Civilizing the Filipinos by the sword may not savor of the highest civilization, but it seems to be the only method to reach Aguinaldo and his followers. It will cost, perhaps, not a little in gold and lives, but it will reclaim from savagery a people who deserve something better than their present condition. Churches and schools will quickly follow the army, and a better condition can soon be expected. Uncle Sam never does even little things by halves, and he certainly will make no mistakes now that he has undertaken a gigantic task.

NO INTERFERENCE.

The intimation that the administration would back Judge Nash, of Columbus, in his desire to become governor of Ohio, has not caused the best of feeling in Washington. On the other hand it has quickly brought out the statement that President McKinley will have nothing whatever to do with the nomination and will interfere in behalf of no one.

The President again shows his wisdom. Ohio Republicans want no interference in the selection of their governor. They believe they are competent to look after the matter, and know that with a free field there will be a fair fight for the place. Then, without the claims and counter claims of factional leaders to hamper the campaign, the Republican party can go with solid front against the enemy.

CITY COUNCIL.

Citizens of East Liverpool, conservative and thinking citizens, voters who are wide awake to the fact that we are about to enter an era of prosperity and development, is it not high time that we should have first-class men in our city council chamber? We have some good and true men there—men who are capable, efficient and trustworthy; but we also have some men there at present whose absence therefrom would prove a blessing to the city at large; and it is your duty to see to it that, if they will not voluntarily vacate, and refuse to enter the contest at the coming primaries, they shall be FORCED, by your ballots, into oblivion, while better and truer men occupy the vacated positions.

WM. V. BLAKE'S RECORD.

When William V. Blake made his record at Columbus, it was recorded in God's book of records. Does William V. Blake take pride in that record and rejoice therein? Is it a record in which he may take just pride? Is it a record that will bless the women and children of Ohio? Is it a record that Blake will be proud to have spread broadcast before the people of Columbiana county? He is a public servant, and he was elected to office by the people for the purpose of doing the will of the great majority of his party. Did he do it? The record stands. The blessing or the infamy attached to his vote is a matter for full publicity. Is it such a record as the people of God will sustain? Will all good and true men, loving God and their families, loving this great state and grand nation, cast their votes for William V. Blake, or men of like record, and then stand by the record of their ballots, satisfied that they, the voters, have won God's blessing for time and for eternity? Think, men, think; your record must be made, and answer must be made to the Master.

WANTED MORE MONEY.

But the Bank Clerk Was Firm and Won Out.

Saturday afternoon a man entered a local bank, and asked to be given change for a $10 bill. The young man behind the counter put down the bill and passed the change over the counter. The man at once demanded $10 more saying he had given $20, but the clerk was firm. The argument which followed was not long, but it attracted the attention of everybody in the bank. It ended in the man going out with $10 in change.

Later in the afternoon the individual appeared at the bank, and desired to beg the clerk's pardon, explaining that he had made a mistake.

The Share Purchased by the Plaintiff on the Books of the Company, and the American Potteries Company and John R. Dos Passos Are Made Defendants.

LISBON, Feb. 20.—[Special]—W. B. R. Warner, secretary of the company, whose duty it is to transfer the stock on the books of the company, refuses to do so. The stock therefore is valueless to him.

THE COLONEL MUST PAY

According to the Ruling of a Canton Justice

FOR THOSE SPANISH MACHETES

The Suit of Private Lewis E. Purnell Gave Him a Victory, But Colonel Hard Declares He Will Carry the Case to Supreme Court For Settlement.

The case of Private Lewis E. Purnell against Col. Curtis V. Hard for $100 damages was heard Saturday afternoon in Canton by Justice Reigner.

The plaintiff alleged that Colonel Hard took from him two Spanish machetes and wrongfully appropriated them to his own use. The case was set for Saturday morning at 10:30 o'clock, but was postponed until the afternoon, and when the hour set for the trial arrived the court room was filled with spectators, the larger portion of them being members of the Eighth regiment. The plaintiff was represented by Attorney Thomas F. Turner, who is very well known in the city, having delivered the address at the Elks memorial two years ago, while the defense had Attorneys J. J. Grant and Julius Whiting.

The case consumed a greater part of the afternoon, and in the testimony Colonel Hard said he took the weapons from Purnell in order to discipline him, but the justice could not see it that way, and gave judgment in favor of the plaintiff in the sum of $20. Colonel Hard states that he will carry the case to the supreme court if it is necessary.

ICE BEGAN TO MOVE

But the River Did Not Clear Rapidly.

DAMAGE TO SHANTY BOATS

The Grinding Masses of Ice Broke In Their Sides and One Was Turned Over--There Were Several Starts Yesterday Afternoon.

The ice in the river at this place was intact this morning, but before the stream cleared much damage was anticipated by owners of coal fleets and shanty boats. So far no damage has been caused the coal fleets but to the shanty boats damage to the amount of $550 has been estimated.

At 3:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon the ice broke for the first time between that time and 6 o'clock this morning the ice broke five times. This caused a gorge to form between Market and Union streets. The ice crowded the Virginia shore, and in some instances the ice was piled as high as 15 feet along the rocks. This caused the ice in the stream to crowd the Ohio shore. Several flats of the Moore coal fleet broke with the ferryboat Dispatch. They floated with the ice about 100 feet, and were caught and tied to the shore.

During the night ice started several times, and the Moore flat crowded against the City of Liverpool, a shanty-boat owned by Mr. Cope, and damaged it to the extent of $50.

A boat lying south of this craft named the Mountain State and owned by Alfred Haines was totally wrecked. The craft was valued at $250.

The left side of the boat owned by Edwin Schneider was broken. Damage $30.

A boat owned by Artie Petty was damaged to the extent of $150.

"The trials of a rivermen are many" said Robert Valentine to a reporter while he was trying to get his boat loose from the ground. The craft was frozen to the ground and the river was rising.

A boat occupied by John Williams was upset during the crowding of the ice to the shore back of Williams' mill yesterday afternoon. Aside from the difficulties, he lost nothing. This morning the craft was righted.

During the first break Jake Barnhart, of the Virginia side, walked over the stream. It was thought he would lose his life, but he reached the Ohio shore in safety. After it gorged at 4:30 o'clock he walked to his home again.

By accident Jason Neville, of Fourth street, fell in the river at Moore's landing yesterday. He was not injured, but got a good ducking.

The ice started out with a rush at 11:15 this morning, and in an hour the river was well cleared.

BANQUET OF JAYHAWKERS.

Surviving Members Unable to Meet at Colonel John B. Colton's Home.

The forty-ninth anniversary of the rescue of the famous "Jayhawker" party fell on Feb. 8. It has long been the custom for the surviving members of that party to meet at the home of Colonel John B. Colton, 439 Bellefontaine avenue, Kansas City, on that date and celebrate the day by taking dinner together and talking over old times. But on Feb. 8 Colonel Colton ate his dinner alone.

The "Jayhawker" party was a company of emigrants which started from Galesburg, Ill., in April, 1849, to cross the desert in search of gold in California. The party crossed the Missouri river at the point where Omaha now stands and reached the Great Salt Lake without adventure other than those attendant upon travel by wagon in those days. In choosing routes to California from that point the Illinois party took the southern trail and was lost in that waste now known as the Colorado desert. For days they wandered without food or water and almost without hope, numbers of the party dying. There was one woman in the party, and she is still living. On the 4th day of February, 1850, the surviving members of the party crossed the range into the Santa Clara valley and were given food and shelter by the Spanish settlers.

Every year for many years past Colonel Colton has invited the survivors of the party to celebrate the day at his home. They met on several occasions, but this year none came. Luther A. Richards of Beaver City, Neb., and Colonel Colton of Kansas City are the only two now living east of the Sierra Nevada mountains. Mr. Richards was prevented by a sudden attack of grip from attending. The surviving Jayhawkers are: John B. Colton, Kansas City; Luther A. Richards, Beaver City, Neb.; Charles B. Mecum, Perry, Ia.; Thomas Shannon, Los Gatos, Cal.; L. Dow Stephens, San Jose, Cal.; Harrison B. Franz, Baker City, Or.; Urban P. Davidson, Thermopolis, Wyo.; John Groscup, Laytonville, Cal.; and Mrs. J. W. Brier, Lodi, Cal.—Kansas City Times.

NEW STYLE BICYCLE.

French Automatic Machine Suitable For One or Two Persons.

Nothing has been said publicly by those who are attempting to establish autotors and autotrucks in many of the cities of the United States of an even more extensive employment of the automatic principle which it is believed will be witnessed within the next five or six years in the United States. It has already come to France, and news received from Paris recently indicates that the impression prevails there that speedily the bicycle will be supplanted in great measure by the automobile suitable for one or two persons.

It is expected that this carriage will be made at a much less cost than has heretofore been entailed, and it is asserted that in France the way has been found to convert the bicycle into an automatic machine, although it will not really be a bicycle, since it will have three wheels. These machines are said to cost no more than a first class bicycle, and fashionable Paris is beginning to be enthusiastic over them. They will be introduced into the United States probably early next summer, and the conjecture is that they will gain as great favor as the bicycle has done, especially among those who found it difficult to learn to ride the wheel and still more difficult and tiresome to propel it.—Holland in Philadelphia Press.

ICE BEGAN TO MOVE

But the River Did Not Clear Rapidly.

DAMAGE TO SHANTY BOATS

The Grinding Masses of Ice Broke In Their Sides and One Was Turned Over--There Were Several Starts Yesterday After-noon.

The ice in the river at this place was intact this morning, but before the stream cleared much damage was anticipated by owners of coal fleets and shanty boats. So far no damage has been caused the coal fleets but to the shanty boats damage to the amount of $550 has been estimated.

At 3:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon the ice broke for the first time Between that time and 6 o'clock this morning the ice broke five times. This caused a gorge to form between Market and Union streets. The ice crowded the Virginia shore, and in some instances the ice was piled as high as 15 feet along the rocks. This caused the ice in the stream to crowd the Ohio shore. Several flats of the Moore coal fleet broke with the ferryboat Dispatch. They floated with the ice about 100 feet, and were caught and tied to the shore.

During the night ice started several times, and the Moore flat crowded against the City of Liverpool, a shanty-boat owned by Mr. Cope, and damaged it to the extent of $50.

A boat lying south of this craft named the Mountain State and owned by Alfred Haines was totally wrecked. The craft was valued at $250.

A boat owned by Artie Fetty was damaged to the extent of $150.

"The trials of a rivermen are many" said Robert Valentine to a reporter while he was trying to get his boat loose from the ground. The craft was frozen to the ground and the river was rising.

A boat occupied by John Williams was upset during the crowding of the ice to the shore back of Williams' mill yesterday afternoon. Aside from the difficulties, he lost nothing. This morning the craft was righted.

During the first break Jake Barnhart, of the Virginia side, walked over the stream. It was thought he would lose his life, but he reached the Ohio shore in safety. After it gorged at 4:30 o'clock he walked to his home again.

By accident Jason Neville, of Fourth street, fell in the river at Moore's land- ing yesterday. He was not injured, but got a good ducking.

The ice started out with a rush at 11:15 this morning, and in an hour the river was well cleared.

NEXT WEDNESDAY

BANQUET OF JAYHAWKERS.

Surviving Members Unable to Meet at Colonel John B. Colton's Home.

The forty-ninth anniversary of the rescue of the famous "Jayhawker" party fell on Feb. 8. It has long been the custom for the surviving members of that party to meet at the home of Colonel John B. Colton, 439 Bellefontaine avenue, Kansas City, on that date and celebrate the day by taking dinner together and talking over old times. But on Feb. 8 Colonel Colton ate his dinner alone.

The "Jayhawker" party was a com- pany of emigrants which started from Galesburg, Ill., in April, 1849, to cross the desert in search of gold in Cali- fornia. The party crossed the Missouri river at the point where Omaha now stands and reached the Great Salt Lake without adventure other than those at- tendant upon travel by wagon in those days. In choosing routes to California from that point the Illinois party took the southern trail and was lost in that waste now known as the Colorado de- sert. For days they wandered without food or water and almost without hope, numbers of the party dying. There was one woman in the party, and she is still living. On the 4th day of February, 1850, the surviving members of the party crossed the range into the Santa Clara valley and were given food and shelter by the Spanish settlers.

Every year for many years past Colo- nel Colton has invited the survivors of the party to celebrate the day at his home. They met on several occasions, but this year none came. Luther A. Richards of Beaver City, Neb., and Colonel Colton of Kansas City are the only two now living east of the Sierra Nevada mountains. Mr. Richards was prevented by a sudden attack of grip from attending. The surviving Jay- hawkers are: John B. Colton, Kansas City; Luther A. Richards, Beaver City, Neb.; Charles B. Mecum, Perry, Ia.; Thomas Shannon, Los Gatos, Cal.; L. Dow Stephens, San Jose, Cal.; Harri- son B. Franz, Baker City, Or.; Urban P. Davidson, Thermopolis, Wyo.; John Groscup, Laytonville, Cal.; and Mrs. J. W. Brier, Lodi, Cal.—Kansas City Times.

NERNST ELECTRIC LAMP

Invention of a Young German Professor.

WILL WORK AT ANY PRESSURE

Does Not Require Inclosure in Vacuum—Light Is Emitted by a Rod Composed of Rare Earths and Is Mild and Yellowish—May Replace the Present Incandescent.

Walter Nernst, a professor in the Göttingen university, has invented an electric lamp which does not require inclosure in vacuum, as is the case with the present glow lamp.

The Nernst light is emitted by a rod composed of rare earths, similar to those used in the manufacture of the Welsbach mantle. These rods do not conduct electricity cold, but heated. They give out a mild, yellowish light and work equally well at any pressure, with consequent economy in copper.

The invention was discussed by the Society of Arts in London the other evening. Messrs. Swinburne and Ayrton, the celebrated chemists, declared it to be the greatest discovery in many years. The invention created a sensation among the members of the society.

Professor Nernst's lamp is intended to take the place of the ordinary incandescent electric lamp, and, according to the records which he has made in experimental work, it promises great economy in the production of light. As used in the present incandescent or glow lamps, the electric current is conducted to a filament of carbon, which, because of its electrical resistance, or choking effect upon the current, is raised to a white heat and thus emits light.

To prevent the destruction of the carbon by burning it is inclosed in glass bulbs from which the air has been exhausted. Professor Nernst does away with the glass bulb entirely, for in place of the combustible carbon filament he uses filaments of magnesium oxide or other materials which are incombustible. These materials are notable for the large proportion of visible light rays which they radiate. The limelight and the Welsbach gaslight mantles are examples of their value in this regard. These materials are, however, under ordinary circumstances nonconductors of electricity, and Professor Nernst's discovery, which admits their use, is that when they are heated they become conductors.

Using this discovery in experiments with a hollow magnesium tube, he obtained results which showed the expenditure of only .96 watts of electrical energy per candle power against about three watts per candle power for the ordinary glow lamp. This economy in the use of electric energy could be utilized either by putting three times as many lamps on a wire circuit or by reducing the size, and consequently the cost of the copper conductors for the current. The cost of these is now great.

So far as has been made public, Professor Nernst has not yet settled upon a commercial form for his lamp. In an experimental form he accomplishes the initial heating of the magnesium filament by placing it in the focus of a reflector, under which is also a spiral coil of platinum wire. A current is first passed through the platinum, which furnishes heat enough at the focus of the reflector to render the magnesium conductive. The current is then switched through the magnesium, and this becoming incandescent, gives out the light and also gives out heat enough to maintain its own conductivity.—Special Cable New York Sun.

MR. M'KINLEY'S VALET.

Secret Service Pays "Frenchy" to Care For the President's Clothes.

"Frenchy," as he is known to the employees and attaches of the White House, is President McKinley's valet. At least that is the title his function would entitle him to with any other person than the ruler of a democratic nation.

His first claim on the president's household is that he is the husband of Mrs. McKinley's maid. He came to Washington with the family and began to make himself useful about the White House by performing the duties of a gentleman's gentleman with Mr. McKinley's wardrobe until now he is a regular employee and accompanies the president on all of his trips.

There is no better groomed or neater dressed man in Washington than President McKinley, but were this not the case "Frenchy" could hardly be earning his salary, for he is employed in the secret service—assigned to watch over the president's clothes and see to it that none of them escape—and is carried on Uncle Sam's pay roll at a comfortable sum per year.—New York World.

Whiskers Show the Officer's Post. Washington is the Mecca for all who wear shoulder straps upon their military blouses, and like the sailors of olden times, who could tell what port a vessel hailed from by the cut of her jib, an observer can usually name the station where an officer last served by the cut of his whiskers, and there seems to have been a concerted desire on the part of all to experiment with them.

hirsute growth as soon as they donned a uniform. From Santiago comes the Vandyke—pure, exaggerated and attempted. From Havana the Burnside and mustache, or the Burnside's natural. From Porto Rico the "little bunch of whiskers on his chin," or the Dutch comedian's favorite. From Manila the mustache, patterned after the Dewey, Merritt, Miles and Emperor William or butterfly styles. Among the older military men at the war department the Alger-Eagan type of hirsute fungi enjoys wide popularity.—New York World.

HORRORS OF WAR IN SAMOA.

Missionary's Wife Tells of Outrages Committed on Helpless Victims.

Civilized people in America have no idea of the atrocities which were committed by the natives in the course of the war that was precipitated by the machinations of the German consul and other prominent people of that nationality.

The following scenes were witnessed by a missionary's wife, and I give the story as it was told by her:

"All the poor women and children without homes took refuge in the Malua stone mission house—some 200 in all. The wounded were taken up there, and the rooms and bathroom were red with blood. One man died on the following day. Several natives were killed. One man ran into the sea, but the insurgents followed him and chopped off his head. The body was floating about for a long time.

"Much damage has been done by the Uluvalis—the young bloods, or Samoan roughs—whom the chiefs cannot control. They go about in small bands, take everything out of the houses and then burn them to the ground. Nearly every native house between Malua and Apia was burned to the ground. The bananas were torn down and the breadfruit trees cut round each stem, so that they will all die. There were hundreds of people crammed into the church in Apia, but these brutes, the Uluvalis, rushed in and actually stripped the women of their clothes. If they could not get rings off quickly, they chopped off the victims' fingers to get the jewelry.

"We saw a fleet of boats going over to Savai and heard that they were going over to burn the Malietoa villages there. They have threatened Mr. Newell (one of the missionaries), and it is hardly safe for him to be seen. The chief justice was to be assassinated one night, but friendly natives got to hear of it and surrounded the house. The chief justice's people were terrified, because they did not know at first whether they were surrounded by foes or friends."—Cor. New York Journal.

DEWEY TO SEE IT OUT.

To Remain at Manila Is His Dearest Desire, Says a Friend.

Mrs. Arthur Lee, who recently returned from a honeymoon tour around the world, during which, with her husband, she was the guest of Admiral Dewey on the Olympia at Manila, says that she looks upon his remarks to her as being expressive of his greatest desire, when he said: "I am deeply interested in the Philippine situation and hope to be permitted to remain here and see it through to the finish."

Mrs. Lee says that Admiral Dewey, when asked to give his opinion of expansion, excused himself adroitly. "Admiral Dewey told me," says Mrs. Lee, "that he has been twice, I think, to Manila. His duties keep him very closely confined to his ship and to Cavite, off which the Olympia is anchored. You can have no idea of the incessant demands upon his time. Just before I left he was being worried about the subject of the Chinese immigration. The Chinese are pouring into Manila in hordes under the impression or hope that they can thus be recognized as American citizens.

"Admiral Dewey is looking well and has, I reckon, gained considerably in weight."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Shang Fang Sword.

The Shang Fang sword is a more potent weapon than Excalibur could ever have been. It is a Chinese weapon, and it confers upon its recipient the power to decapitate whomever he may select as the object of his wrath. It had until a week or two since only been given to one Chinaman in the preceding century. Now it has been bestowed by the empress upon two. These are Prince Tsai Chi and Prince Tsai Lien, whose claim to the distinction is that they were the first Chinese dignitaries to appeal to the empress to save the country from the reform schemes of the emperor.—London Chronicle.

The Most Ungrammatical Sentence.

What is the most ungrammatical sentence ever spoken? The following would be hard to beat. It was enunciated by a little girl who was driving along a country road with her father. Seeing a flock of sheep in a neighboring meadow, she asked, "Is them sheeps yours?" Four words, and all wrong.—London Answers.

HOW COLONIES COUNT.

Trade Advantages Enjoyed by Great Britain's System.

COLONIES PATRONIZE HOME LANDS.

The Case of France and the Netherlands—A Market Worth $300,000,000 a Year—Exports to and Imports From British Dependencies—Colonial Railways and Telegraph Lines.

The non-British world buys 15 per cent of its total foreign merchandise from the United Kingdom. The British colonial world buys 43 per cent of its foreign merchandise from the United Kingdom. The total imports of the British colonies amount to $1,075,000,000 annually. Great Britain, by supplying 43 per cent of this instead of 15 per cent, which she averages in the commerce of other countries, makes an additional market for $300,000,000 annually of her products. Her total exports to foreign countries (omitting the colonies) are $1,030,000,000, or 15 per cent of their total imports, and if to this were added a like percentage of the imports of the colonies her total sales would be $1,190,000,000 instead of the grand total of $1,480,000,000, which she enjoyed in 1896, the year to which these figures relate. It is thus apparent that her sales are enlarged through her colonial system in the sum of about $300,000,000 in round figures, or $300,000,000 per annum, thus increasing by 25 per cent her total exports and creating by her colonial system a market for $300,000,000 worth of her products and manufactures.

These are some of the facts shown in a recent publication of the treasury bureau of statistics on the colonies, protectorates and dependencies of the world. French colonies buy quite as largely from the home country as do those of Great Britain, and even the Netherlands colonies purchase largely from the mother country, although located on the opposite side of the earth.

Not only has Great Britain added to her market by bringing the 350,000,000 people of her colonies into the colonial relationship, but there has evidently been through the material development which has followed this relationship a great increase in the purchasing power. The construction of highways, harbors, railways and telegraphs has evidently quickened the general business conditions, and with the increased activity and prosperity enlarged the consuming power.

That the construction of roads, harbors, railways, telegraphs and the establishment of postal and banking facilities must increase the activity, productiveness and consequent consuming power, goes without saying. The railways now in the British colonies alone are more than 55,000 miles in length, the telegraph lines nearly 150,000 miles and the highways far in excess of that. A large proportion of the railway lines is under the control and in many cases operated by the government, and it is an interesting fact that the lines operated by the government expend a smaller proportion of their total receipts in running expenses than those operated by private corporations. In nearly all the colonies there are savings banks in conjunction with the postoffices, and the deposits in the savings banks of the colonies amount to more than $300,000,000.

In the import trade of Great Britain the colonies also prove advantageous from the British standpoint. Over one-fifth of the more than $2,000,000,000 which Great Britain sends outside of her immediate limits in purchase of supplies is spent among the people of her colonies and thus largely contributes to the prosperity of either British colonies or British capital. That the industries of the colonies are to a considerable extent controlled by British capital goes without saying, and that the expenditure of nearly $500,000,000 of British money in British colonies each year for the products of those colonies must benefit the capital thus employed, and so reflect to the business advantage of the home country whence that capital is drawn is equally apparent. The total imports into Great Britain from the colonies in 1896 were over $465,000,000 and in 1891 were over $405,000,000, or in round terms $500,000,000, forming more than one-fifth of the total imports into the United Kingdom.

Total value of exports of the United Kingdom in 1897 to its colonies amounted to $434,821,845; the imports amounted to $470,094,665. Total value of exports of the United Kingdom to foreign countries in the same year amounted to $1,036,048,745, the imports to $1,785,050,135.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others? The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe work. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

NERNST ELECTRIC LAMP

Invention of a Young German Professor.

WILL WORK AT ANY PRESSURE

Does Not Require Inclosure in Vacuum—Light Is Emitted by a Rod Composed of Rare Earths and Is Mild and Yellowish—May Replace the Present Incandescent.

Walter Nernst, a professor in the Göttingen university, has invented an electric lamp which does not require inclosure in vacuum, as is the case with the present glow lamp.

The Nernst light is emitted by a rod composed of rare earths, similar to those used in the manufacture of the Welsbach mantle. These rods do not conduct electricity cold, but heated. They give out a mild, yellowish light and work equally well at any pressure, with consequent economy in copper.

The invention was discussed by the Society of Arts in London the other evening. Messrs. Swinburne and Ayrton, the celebrated chemists, declared it to be the greatest discovery in many years. The invention created a sensation among the members of the society.

Professor Nernst's lamp is intended to take the place of the ordinary incandescent electric lamp, and, according to the records which he has made in experimental work, it promises great economy in the production of light. As used in the present incandescent or glow lamps, the electric current is conducted to a filament of carbon, which, because of its electrical resistance, or choking effect upon the current, is raised to a white heat and thus emits light.

To prevent the destruction of the carbon by burning it is inclosed in glass bulbs from which the air has been exhausted. Professor Nernst does away with the glass bulb entirely, for in place of the combustible carbon filament he uses filaments of magnesium oxide or other materials which are incandescent. These materials are notable for the large proportion of visible light rays which they radiate. The limelight and the Welsbach gaslight mantles are examples of their value in this regard. These materials are, however, under ordinary circumstances nonconductors of electricity, and Professor Nernst's discovery, which admits their use, is that when they are heated they become conductors.

Using this discovery in experiments with a hollow magnesium tube, he obtained results which showed the expenditure of only .96 watts of electrical energy per candle power against about three watts per candle power for the ordinary glow lamp. This economy in the use of electric energy could be utilized either by putting three times as many lamps on a wire circuit or by reducing the size, and consequently the cost of the copper conductors for the current. The cost of these is now great.

So far as has been made public, Professor Nernst has not yet settled upon a commercial form for his lamp. In an experimental form he accomplishes the initial heating of the magnesium filament by placing it in the focus of a reflector, under which is also a spiral coil of platinum wire. A current is first passed through the platinum, which furnishes heat enough at the focus of the reflector to render the magnesium conductive. The current is then switched through the magnesium, and this, becoming incandescent, gives out the light and also gives out heat enough to maintain its own conductivity.—Special Cable New York Sun.

MR. MCKINLEY'S VALET.

Secret Service Pays "Frenchy" to Care for the President's Clothes.

"Frenchy," as he is known to the employees and attaches of the White House, is President McKinley's valet. At least that is the title his function would entitle him to with any other person than the ruler of a democratic nation.

His first claim on the president's household is that he is the husband of Mrs. McKinley's maid. He came to Washington with the family and began to make himself useful about the White House by performing the duties of a gentleman's gentleman with Mr. McKinley's wardrobe until now he is a regular employee and accompanies the president on all of his trips.

There is no better groomed or neater dressed man in Washington than President McKinley, but were this not the case "Frenchy" could hardly be earning his salary, for he is employed in the secret service—assigned to watch over the president's clothes and see to it that none of them escape—and is carried off Uncle Sam's payroll at a comfortable sum per year.—New York World.

Whiskers Show the Officer's Post.

Washington is the Mecca for all who wear shoulder straps upon their military blouses, and like the sailors of olden times, who could tell what port a vessel hailed from by the cut of her jib, an observer can usually name the station where an officer last served by the cut of his whiskers, and there seems to have been a concerted desire on the part of all to experiment with them.

hirsute growth as soon as they donned a uniform. From Santiago comes the Vandyke—pure, exaggerated and attempted. From Havana the Burnside and mustache, or the Burnside an natural. From Porto Rico the "little bunch of whiskers on his chin," or the Dutch comedian's favorite. From Manila the mustache, patterned after the Dewey, Merritt, Miles and Emperor William or butterfly styles. Among the older military men at the war department the Alger-Eagan type of hirsute fungi enjoys wide popularity.—New York World.

HORRORS OF WAR IN SAMOA.

Missionary's Wife Tells of Outrages Committed on Helpless Victims.

Civilized people in America have no idea of the atrocities which were committed by the natives in the course of the war that was precipitated by the machinations of the German consul and other prominent people of that nationality.

The following scenes were witnessed by a missionary's wife, and I give the story as it was told by her:

"All the poor women and children without homes took refuge in the Malua stone mission house—some 200 in all. The wounded were taken up there, and the rooms and bathroom were red with blood. One man died on the following day. Several natives were killed. One man ran into the sea, but the insurgents followed him and chopped off his head. The body was floating about for a long time.

"Much damage has been done by the Uluvalis—the young bloods, or Samoan roughs—whom the chiefs cannot control. They go about in small bands, take everything out of the houses and then burn them to the ground. Nearly every native house between Mahia and Apia was burned to the ground. The bananas were torn down and the breadfruit trees cut round each stem, so that they will all die. There were hundreds of people crammed into the church in Apia, but these brutes, the Uluvalis, rushed in and actually stripped the women of their clothes. If they could not get rings off quickly, they chopped off the victims' fingers to get the jewelry.

"We saw a fleet of boats going over to Savai and heard that they were going over to burn the Malietoa villages there. They have threatened Mr. Newell (one of the missionaries), and it is hardly safe for him to be seen. The chief justice was to be assassinated one night, but friendly natives got to hear of it and surrounded the house. The chief justice's people were terrified, because they did not know at first whether they were surrounded by foes or friends."—Cor. New York Journal.

DEWEY TO SEE IT OUT.

To Remain at Manila Is His Dearest Desire, Says a Friend.

Mrs. Arthur Lee, who recently returned from a honeymoon tour around the world, during which, with her husband, she was the guest of Admiral Dewey on the Olympia at Manila, says that she looks upon his remarks to her as being expressive of his greatest desire, when he said: "I am deeply interested in the Philippine situation and hope to be permitted to remain here and see it through to the finish."

Mrs. Lee says that Admiral Dewey, when asked to give his opinion of expansion, excused himself adroitly. "Admiral Dewey told me," says Mrs. Lee, "that he has been twice, I think, to Manila. His duties keep him very closely confined to his ship and to Cavite, off which the Olympia is anchored. You can have no idea of the incessant demands upon his time. Just before I left he was being worried about the subject of the Chinese immigration. The Chinese are pouring into Manila in hordes under the impression or hope that they can thus be recognized as American citizens.

"Admiral Dewey is looking well and has, I reckon, gained considerably in weight."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Shang Fang Sword.

The Shang Fang sword is a more portentous weapon than Excalibur could ever have been. It is a Chinese weapon, and it confers upon its recipient the power to decapitate whomsoever he may select as the object of his wrath. It had until a week or two since only been given to one Chinaman in the preceding century. Now it has been bestowed by the empress upon two. These are Prince Tsai Chi and Prince Tsai Lien, whose claim to the distinction is that they were the first Chinese dignitaries to appeal to the empress to save the country from the reform schemes of the emperor.—London Chronicle.

HOW COLONIES COUNT.

Trade Advantages Enjoyed by Great Britain's System.

COLONIES PATRONIZE HOME LANDS.

The Case of France and the Netherlands—A Market Worth $300,000,000 a Year—Exports to and Imports From British Dependencies—Colonial Railways and Telegraph Lines.

The non-British world buys 15 per cent of its total foreign merchandise from the United Kingdom. The British colonial world buys 43 per cent of its foreign merchandise from the United Kingdom. The total imports of the British colonies amount to $1,075,000,000 annually. Great Britain, by supplying 43 per cent of this instead of 15 per cent, which she averages in the commerce of other countries, makes an additional market for $300,000,000 annually of her products. NERNST ELECTRIC LAMP

Invention of a Young German Professor.

WILL WORK AT ANY PRESSURE

Does Not Require Inclosure In Vacuum—Light Is Emitted by a Rod Composed of Rare Earths and Is Mild and Yellowish—May Replace the Present Incandescent.

Walter Nernst, a professor in the Göttingen university, has invented an electric lamp which does not require inclosure in vacuum, as is the case with the present glow lamp.

The Nernst light is emitted by a rod composed of rare earths, similar to those used in the manufacture of the Welsbach mantle. These rods do not conduct electricity cold, but heated. They give out a mild, yellowish light and work equally well at any pressure, with consequent economy in copper.

The invention was discussed by the Society of Arts in London the other evening. Messrs. Swinburne and Ayrton, the celebrated chemists, declared it to be the greatest discovery in many years. The invention created a sensation among the members of the society.

Professor Nernst's lamp is intended to take the place of the ordinary incandescent electric lamp, and, according to the records which he has made in experimental work, it promises great economy in the production of light. As used in the present incandescent or glow lamps, the electric current is conducted to a filament of carbon, which, because of its electrical resistance, or choking effect upon the current, is raised to a white heat and thus emits light.

To prevent the destruction of the carbon by burning it is inclosed in glass bulbs from which the air has been exhausted. Professor Nernst does away with the glass bulb entirely, for in place of the combustible carbon filament he uses filaments of magnesium oxide or other materials which are incandescent. These materials are notable for the large proportion of visible light rays which they radiate. The limelight and the Welsbach gaslight mantles are examples of their value in this regard. These materials are, however, under ordinary circumstances nonconductors of electricity, and Professor Nernst's discovery, which admits their use, is that when they are heated they become conductors.

Using this discovery in experiments with a hollow magnesium tube, he obtained results which showed the expenditure of only .96 watts of electrical energy per candle power against about three watts per candle power for the ordinary glow lamp. This economy in the use of electric energy could be utilized either by putting three times as many lamps on a wire circuit or by reducing the size, and consequently the cost of the copper conductors for the current. The cost of these is now great.

So far as has been made public, Professor Nernst has not yet settled upon a commercial form for his lamp. In an experimental form he accomplishes the initial heating of the magnesium filament by placing it in the focus of a reflector, under which is also a spiral coil of platinum wire. A current is first passed through the platinum, which furnishes heat enough at the focus of the reflector to render the magnesium conductive. The current is then switched through the magnesium, and this becoming incandescent, gives out the light and also gives out heat enough to maintain its own conductivity.—Special Cable New York Sun.

MR. M'KINLEY'S VALET.

Secret Service Pays "Frenchy" to Care For the President's Clothes.

"Frenchy," as he is known to the employees and attaches of the White House, is President McKinley's valet. At least that is the title his function would entitle him to with any other person than the ruler of a democratic nation.

His first claim on the president's household is that he is the husband of Mrs. McKinley's maid. He came to Washington with the family and began to make himself useful about the White House by performing the duties of a gentleman's gentleman with Mr. McKinley's wardrobe until now he is a regular employee and accompanies the president on all of his trips.

There is no better groomed or neater dressed man in Washington than President McKinley, but were this not the case "Frenchy" could hardly be earning his salary, for he is employed in the secret service—assigned to watch over the president's clothes and see to it that none of them escape—and is carried on Uncle Sam's pay roll at a comfortable sum per year.—New York World.

Whiskers Show the Officer's Post.

Washington is the Mecca for all who wear shoulder straps upon their military blouses, and like the sailors of olden times, who could tell what port a vessel hailed from by the cut of her jib, an observer can usually name the station where an officer last served by the cut of his whiskers, and there seems to have been a concerted desire on the part of all to experiment with their hirsute growth as soon as they donned a uniform. From Santiago comes the Vandyke—pure, exaggerated and attempted. From Havana the Burnside and mustache, or the Burnside and mustache. From Porto Rico the "little bunch of whiskers on his chin," or the Dutch comedian's favorite. From Manila the mustache, patterned after the Dewey, Merritt, Miles and Emperor William or butterfly styles. Among the older military men at the war department the Alger-Eagan type of hirsute fungi enjoys wide popularity.—New York World.

HORRORS OF WAR IN SAMOA.

Missionary's Wife Tells of Outrages Committed on Helpless Victims.

Civilized people in America have no idea of the atrocities which were committed by the natives in the course of the war that was precipitated by the machinations of the German consul and other prominent people of that nationality.

The following scenes were witnessed by a missionary's wife, and I give the story as it was told by her:

"All the poor women and children without homes took refuge in the Malua stone mission house—some 200 in all. The wounded were taken up there, and the rooms and bathroom were red with blood. One man died on the following day. Several natives were killed. One man ran into the sea, but the insurgents followed him and chopped off his head. The body was floating about for a long time.

"Much damage has been done by the Uluvalis—the young bloods, or Samoan roughs—whom the chiefs cannot control. They go about in small bands, take everything out of the houses and then burn them to the ground. Nearly every native house between Mahia and Apia was burned to the ground. The bananas were torn down and the breadfruit trees cut round each stem, so that they will all die. There were hundreds of people crammed into the church in Apia, but these brutes, the Uluvalis, rushed in and actually stripped the women of their clothes. If they could not get rings off quickly, they chopped off the victims' fingers to get the jewelry.

"We saw a fleet of boats going over to Savai and heard that they were going over to burn the Malietoa villages there. They have threatened Mr. Newell (one of the missionaries), and it is hardly safe for him to be seen. The chief justice was to be assassinated one night, but friendly natives got to hear of it and surrounded the house. The chief justice's people were terrified, because they did not know at first whether they were surrounded by foes or friends."—Cor. New York Journal.

DEWEY TO SEE IT OUT.

To Remain at Manila Is His Dearest Desire, Says a Friend.

Mrs. Arthur Lee, who recently returned from a honeymoon tour around the world, during which, with her husband, she was the guest of Admiral Dewey on the Olympia at Manila, says that she looks upon his remarks to her as being expressive of his greatest desire, when he said: "I am deeply interested in the Philippine situation and hope to be permitted to remain here and see it through to the finish."

Mrs. Lee says that Admiral Dewey, when asked to give his opinion of expansion, excused himself adroitly. "Admiral Dewey told me," says Mrs. Lee, "that he has been twice, I think, to Manila. His duties keep him very closely confined to his ship and to Cavite, off which the Olympia is anchored. You can have no idea of the incessant demands upon his time. Just before I left he was being worried about the subject of the Chinese immigration. The Chinese are pouring into Manila in hordes under the impression or hope that they can thus be recognized as American citizens.

"Admiral Dewey is looking well and has, I reckon, gained considerably in weight."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Shang Fang Sword.

The Shang Fang sword is a more portentous weapon than Excalibur could ever have been. It is a Chinese weapon, and it confers upon its recipient the power to decapitate whomsoever he may select as the object of his wrath. It had until a week or two since only been given to one Chinaman in the preceding century. Now it has been bestowed by the empress upon two. These are Prince Tsai Chi and Prince Tsai Lien, whose claim to the distinction is that they were the first Chinese dignitaries to appeal to the empress to save the country from the reform schemes of the emperor.—London Chronicle.

The Most Ungrammatical Sentence.

What is the most ungrammatical sentence ever spoken? The following would be hard to beat. It was enunciated by a little girl who was driving along a country road with her father. Seeing a flock of sheep in a neighboring meadow, she asked, "Is them sheeps yours?" Four words, and all wrong.—London Answers.

HOW COLONIES COUNT.

Trade Advantages Enjoyed by Great Britain's System.

COLONIES PATRONIZE HOME LANDS.

The Case of France and the Netherlands—A Market Worth $300,000,000 a Year—Exports to and Imports From British Dependencies—Colonial Railways and Telegraph Lines.

The non-British world buys 15 per cent of its total foreign merchandise from the United Kingdom. The British colonial world buys 43 per cent of its foreign merchandise from the United Kingdom. The total imports of the British colonies amount to $1,075,000,000 annually. Great Britain, by supplying 43 per cent of this instead of 15 per cent, which she averages in the commerce of other countries, makes an additional market for $300,000,000 annually of her products. Her total exports to foreign countries (omitting the colonies) are $1,030,000,000, or 15 per cent of their total imports, and if to this were added a like percentage of the imports of the colonies her total sales would be $1,190,000,000 instead of the grand total of $1,480,000,000, which she enjoyed in 1896, the year to which these figures relate. It is thus apparent that her sales are enlarged through her colonial system in the sum of about $300,000,000 in round figures, or $300,000,000 per annum, thus increasing by 25 per cent her total exports and creating by her colonial system a market for $300,000,000 worth of her products and manufactures.

These are some of the facts shown in a recent publication of the treasury bureau of statistics on the colonies, protectorates and dependencies of the world. French colonies buy quite as largely from the home country as do those of Great Britain, and even the Netherlands colonies purchase largely from the mother country, although located on the opposite side of the earth.

Not only has Great Britain added to her market by bringing the 350,000,000 people of her colonies into the colonial relationship, but there has evidently been through the material development which has followed this relationship a great increase in the purchasing power. The construction of highways, harbors, railways and telegraphs has evidently quickened the general business conditions, and with the increased activity and prosperity enlarged the consuming power.

That the construction of roads, harbors, railways, telegraphs and the establishment of postal and banking facilities must increase the activity, productivity and consequent consuming power, goes without saying. The railways now in the British colonies alone are more than 55,000 miles in length, the telegraph lines nearly 150,000 miles and the highways far in excess of that. A large proportion of the railway lines is under the control and in many cases operated by the government, and it is an interesting fact that the lines operated by the government expend a smaller proportion of their total receipts in running expenses than those operated by private corporations. In nearly all the colonies there are savings banks in conjunction with the postoffices, and the deposits in the savings banks of the colonies amount to more than $300,000,000.

In the import trade of Great Britain the colonies also prove advantageous from the British standpoint. Over one-fifth of the more than $2,000,000,000 which Great Britain sends outside of her immediate limits in purchase of supplies is spent among the people of her colonies and thus largely contributes to the prosperity of either British colonists or British capital. That the industries of the colonies are to a considerable extent controlled by British capital goes without saying, and that the expenditure of nearly $500,000,000 of British money in British colonies each year for the products of those colonies must benefit the capital thus employed, and so reflect to the business advantage of the home country whence that capital is drawn is equally apparent. The total imports into Great Britain from the colonies in 1896 were over $465,000,000, and in 1891 were over $495,000,000, or in round terms $500,000,000, forming more than one-fifth of the total imports into the United Kingdom.

Total value of exports of the United Kingdom in 1897 to its colonies amounted to $434,821,845; the imports amounted to $470,094,665. Total value of exports of the United Kingdom to foreign countries in the same year amounted to $1,036,048,745, the imports to $1,785,050,135.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

AGUINALDO AND HIS AIDS

Members of the Filipino Dictator's Cabinet.

SIMPLY SHADOWS OF THE CHIEF

Most of the Men Who Hold High Positions Under the Filipino Leader Are Unknown to Fame—Minister of War Teodoro Sandico's Treatment by Our Consuls.

Aguinaldo has so dominated the affairs of the so called Filipino republic that little attention has been paid to his lieutenants and the men who have been assigned to places of nominal importance in the government. Indeed most people would find difficulty in recalling to mind the names of any of Aguinaldo's cabinet ministers. One reason for this indifference to the individuality of the Filipino leaders below Aguinaldo may be found in the fact that nearly all of his subordinates are mere figureheads—men of no strength of character and little or no following among their own people. In all the forms of government instituted by Aguinaldo since last May there has not been one man who would allow himself to have an opinion—much less to express it—contrary to Aguinaldo's, except, possibly, General Pio del Pilar.

The latest reported Filipino cabinet consisted of the president of the revolutionary government, Emilio Aguinaldo himself; president of the cabinet and minister of foreign affairs, Senor Mabini; minister of the interior, Teodoro Sandico; minister of war, General Balmoro Aguinaldo, Emilio's cousin; minister of finance, Mariana Trias, and minister of public works, Gregorico Gonzaga.

Of these six men only three have ever been heard of outside of Manila before their appointment to office—namely, the two Aguinaldos and Sandico. His cousin Balmoro is a convenient figurehead. He has been prominent in the councils of the president ever since the latter landed in Cavite last May. He is regarded as a very "safe" man, ready to vote and direct exactly as he may be instructed. No one would expect him to venture an opinion on any important subject until he had learned the attitude of his chief.

Teodoro Sandico is a rather clever half caste, educated as an engineer, who was the medium through whom Aguinaldo worked when he was making our consul in Hongkong believe that he (the consul) was a diplomat of supreme sagacity and finesse. Poor Sandico really took our consul seriously for a time and believed that he had assisted in the negotiation of a treaty between the republic of the United States and the Filipino republic. It is true Aguinaldo was never deceived by the performances of our consuls at Singapore and Hongkong, but he now finds it convenient to pretend that he was led to "help" the Americans by the representatives of our government. As a matter of fact, Aguinaldo knew perfectly well the powers and the limitations of our consuls—a great deal better, in fact, than these men themselves knew them. When I recall the position of Sandico last June it seems absurd to think of him as one of Aguinaldo's cabinet.

One day the former United States consul to Manila, M. O. F. Williams, took on board the collier Nanshan a very nervous Filipino, who announced that he had come to that ship at Consul Williams' request preparatory to sailing for Hongkong. This man was Sandico, and when I questioned him about the purpose of his trip to Hongkong he let the cat out of the bag at once for the sake of getting my influence with Admiral Dewey to let him go in the coming trip of the Zafiro. He said that he was on very friendly terms with Senor Artacho, who had just arrived in Cavite from Hongkong; that Artacho had been arrested the day after his arrival and that he was to be shot that day; that he (Sandico) had barely escaped imprisonment because he had passed the night in the same house with Artacho, and that Consul Williams had saved his life by giving him asylum on board the Nanshan.

About this time one of Aguinaldo's staff, a slight young fellow named Legarda, came off to the Nanshan and told Sandico that Aguinaldo had sent for him to come ashore. Then followed a most interesting struggle on the part of Sandico to escape the fate that he felt sure had been meted out to Artacho and his four friends. Sandico fell back upon his position of supposed safety on board a United States vessel. Aguinaldo sent Legarda to Admiral Dewey with a request that his insubordinate officer be returned to his service. The admiral's eyes snapped when he learned that Sandico had taken refuge aboard the Nanshan at the request of Consul Williams, and he ordered Flag Lieutenant Brumby to see that Sandico was put ashore. The latter, finding that his asylum was to be taken from him begged Brumby and myself most piteously to intercede with the admiral to save his life.—Joseph L. Stickney in Chicago Record.

Knives Made by Pressure.

It is announced that an entirely new method for the manufacture of table

cutlery is being introduced into Sheffield, England, and is exciting much interest. A round bar of steel is placed in a machine, and by means of hydraulic pressure a perfect knife is formed—blade, bolster and handle. The "flash" is taken off, and it is subsequently ground and polished by machinery. One such machine is capable, it is stated, of producing 5,000 of these all steel knives per day at a comparatively small cost in labor. The machines are capable of dealing with any kind of cutlery or tools.—New York Dispatch.

THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL IN AFRICA.

A Bishop Has Been In This Country Working For Funds.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—For about three months Bishop James M. Dwane, a native of Africa, has been in the United States working for funds to build a theological seminary in Africa. The land is bought, the plans are made; all that is needed now is $10,000 with which to begin work on a wing of the building.

"Some years ago," he said, "we organized the Ethiopian church in Cape Colony, Rhodesia and Natal and made many converts. Three years ago I learned that there was an African Methodist Episcopal church in the United States, and I came here to inquire about it. The result is that our church united with it in 1896 and I was made vicar bishop of South Africa. Last year Bishop Turner of the African Methodist Episcopal church came to us in Africa and formally received our church. Then he bought us 12 acres of land in Cape Colony on which to build what we need most, a theological seminary. That school is for the purpose of training and educating a native ministry to preach among the heathen."

Bishop Dwane hopes that liberal New Yorkers will help this new seminary. He expects to sail on the St. Paul on Wednesday.

DEWEY WERE HIS NAME.

He came and raised his flag aboard the ship. An mentioned how that Dewey were his name. He didn't have no great amount o' lip. But wot he said he meant it jist the same. He put us through maneuvers short an long. An kep' us at subcaliber between. Until we come to anchor at Hongkong. An got our orders for the Philippines.

Then this 'ere Dewey struck a pow'ful gait. An mentioned how thet somethin had ter drop. He kep' the colliers workin soon an late. An every blessed jackie on the hop. An when he got his bunkers chock a-block w'y, then he up an filled his magazines. An tol' 'em when they asked him wot's o'clock.

"A little game o' Spanish Philippines!" An when all's done he up an goes to sea. The other ships a-trailin in his rear. An when he sights them islands on his lee. He signals out fer every ship to clear. We done it with a ringin, rousin cheer. Fer w'y, we'd kind o' learned to like his style.

The which were sich he made M to appear. He knowed wot he were doin all the while.

He kep' us on an off till close o' day. An then he kind o' squared around his chin. An wigwagged out: "Their ships is in the bay. They won't come out, so I'm a-goin in!" He knowed the odds ag'in him in the game.

He knowed the bay were mined for Uncle Sam; He likewise knowed that Dewey were his name, An, belin sich, he didn't care a slam!

So on we went, a-creepin through the night. Not knowin whereabouts thet we was at. With every barker stripped in trim for fight. An every blessed Jackie standin pat. An when the mornin broke, w'y, there we lay.

Lined up, each crew a-standin to its gun. Right in the middle o' Manila bay. Old Glory gleamin pretty in the sun!

There weren't no time ter talk about it then. Fer Spain cut loose her iron in a shower. An powder monkeys turned ter fightin men. An fightin men ter devils in an hour.

'Twere jist one awful crashin, tearin roar. Thet seemed like it were bustin o' yer brain. Along with shrieks o' Yankee shells thet bore. A message labeled, "Don't forget the Maine!"

Lor' bless us, but it were a proper sight. Them ships an forts a-sittin shot an shell. An Dewey, lookin pleasant an perlitte. Requestin from the bridge ter "Give 'em —well!"

An when we gits the order ter retire. An waits until the smudge has blowed away. Their ships as wasn't sinkin was afire. An Uncle Sam were master o' the bay.

I hear there's some as says it weren't no fight. As does their fightin home an in a chair. "If we'd been there," they says, "we'd done it right!"

Well, mebbe so—God knows thet they was there! It weren't our fault the Spaniards couldn't aim. Our ships was there to hit, as well they knows.

But, bless their hearts, we'd licked 'em jist the same. If they'd had gunners picked from all that grows!

So, mates, these words is all I've got ter say. I says 'em, an I means 'em, every one: They ain't no other man alive terday. Would tried ter do wot Dewey tried an done.

We knows it, us as sweat behind his guns. They knows it, them as writes the scroll of fame. An when they tells o' heroes to our sons— W'y, mates, they'll head the list with Dewey's name!

RARE COIN UNEARTHED.

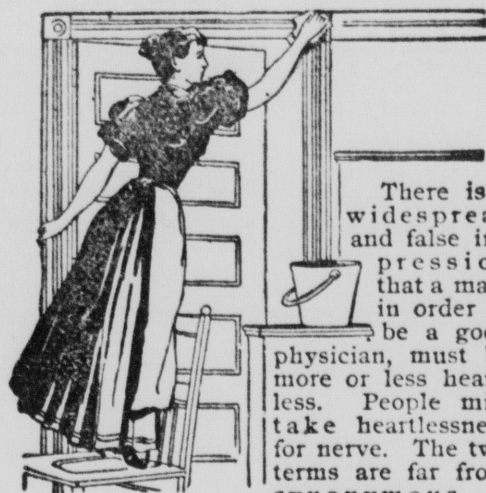

Found Behind a Window Sash in John Penn's House.

The coin collectors of Philadelphia are deeply interested over a rare golden coin found recently by James Furniss in front of the historical old building at Second and Walnut streets. The coin proved to be a sovereign nearly 200 years old and is said to be worth many, many times its original face value. The piece had evidently lain for over a century in a crack of the old bulk window, which is on the Second street front. In making a slight repair to the window Furniss pried open a crack in the lower part of the frame, and the coin dropped to the ground.

So black and disfigured was it with age the finder was not at first inclined to attach any importance to the find. However, an honest person, who recognized the value, made known the extent of the prize, and Furniss took it to a coin collector, who at once attempted to buy it. The old building in which the coin has lain concealed was built by John Penn, the son of William Penn, and for nearly half a century has been occupied by a gunsmith.—Philadelphia Record.

False Teeth That Grow.

A Moscow dentist has solved the problem of supplying the human mouth with false teeth which will grow into the gums as firmly as natural ones. Dr. Zamesky has performed several successful operations on dogs as well as human beings. The teeth are made of gutta percha, porcelain or metal, as the case may be. At the root of the false tooth holes are made. Holes are also made upward into the jaw. The tooth is then placed in the cavity. In a short time a softly granulated growth finds

There is a widespread and false impression that a man, in order to be a good physician, must be more or less heartless. People mistake heartlessness for nerve. The two terms are far from synonymous. A man may have a nerve of steel and a heart as tender as a mother's.

Of all the specialists in the world, there probably are not two that have as wide an experience in the treatment of women's diseases as Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. With the assistance of his staff of able physicians, he has prescribed, in the past thirty years, for many thousands of women. Dr. Pierce is pre-eminently a sympathetic physician. Perhaps more than any other man in the profession he realizes the hardships of woman's work, and the disadvantages under which she labors because of the weak, delicate and susceptible structure of the feminine organism. His immense practice in diseases peculiar to women forced upon his recognition the fact that women would never take the proper care of their health, so long as that care required the repugnant "examinations" and "local treatments" insisted upon by nearly all physicians. After years of study he invented a remedy now known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription that is an absolute and unailing cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of diseases peculiar to women. This wonderful medicine cures in the privacy of the home, and does away with the necessity for obnoxious "local treatment." It imparts health, strength, vigor and elasticity to the organs distinctly feminine and fits for wifehood and motherhood.

In paper covers, 21 one-cent stamps; cloth binding, 10 cents extra. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

East-Liverpool People Are Respectfully Asked to Answer These Questions.

Is there anything in the evidence of one's senses?

Can the reader dispute and then disprove local evidence?

Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know?

Are the opinions of residents of East Liverpool of any greater moment than opinions held by residents of Maine or Michigan?

Would you sooner believe people living in those states than those in your own city?

Answer these questions honestly after you have quietly read the following:

Mr. R. H. Hawkins, an employee of Sebring's pottery, who lives at 234 Second street, says: "I had been taking medicine for my kidneys right along, and if I had found a cure I would have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled two years or more with distressing backache across the loins, a steady aching pain with quick twinges now and then while stooping or lifting, that felt as if a sharp instrument had pierced my back, and the secretions of the kidneys were highly colored, feverish or slightly scalding. Work seemed to be a drag; I had no energy, and I am more than thankful that I was induced to go to the W. & W. pharmacy and get Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking them there was no sign of my old complaint."

Then followed a most interesting struggle on the part of Sandico to escape the fate that he felt sure had been meted out to Artacho and his four friends. Sandico fell back upon his position of supposed safety on board a United States vessel. Aguinaldo sent Legarda to Admiral Dewey with a request that his insubordinate officer be returned to his service. The admiral's eyes snapped when he learned that Sandico had taken refuge aboard the Nanshan at the request of Consul Williams, and he ordered Flag Lieutenant Bramby to see that Sandico was put ashore. The latter, finding that his asylum was to be taken from him begged Bramby and myself most piteously to intercede with the admiral to save his life.—Joseph L. Stickney in Chicago Record.

Knives Made by Pressure.

It is announced that an entirely new method for the manufacture of table

cutlery is being introduced into Sheffield, England, and is exciting much interest. A round bar of steel is placed in a machine, and by means of hydraulic pressure a perfect knife is formed—blade, bolster and handle. The "fash" is taken off, and it is subsequently ground and polished by machinery. One such machine is capable, it is stated, of producing 5,000 of these all steel knives per day at a comparatively small cost in labor. The machines are capable of dealing with any kind of cutlery or tools.—New York Dispatch.

THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL IN AFRICA.

A Bishop Has Been In This Country Working For Funds.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—For about three months Bishop James M. Dwane, a native of Africa, has been in the United States working for funds to build a theological seminary in Africa. The land is bought, the plans are made; all that is needed now is $10,000 with which to begin work on a wing of the building.

"Some years ago," he said, "we organized the Ethiopian church in Cape Colony, Rhodesia and Natal and made many converts. Three years ago I learned that there was an African Methodist Episcopal church in the United States, and I came here to inquire about it. The result is that our church united with it in 1896 and I was made vicar bishop of South Africa. Last year Bishop Turner of the African Methodist Episcopal church came to us in Africa and formally received our church. Then he bought us 12 acres of land in Cape Colony on which to build what we need most, a theological seminary. That school is for the purpose of training and educating a native ministry to preach among the heathen."

Bishop Dwane hopes that liberal New Yorkers will help this new seminary. He expects to sail on the St. Paul on Wednesday.

He put us through maneuvers short an long. An kep' us at subcaltiber between. Until we come to anchor at Hongkong. An got our orders for the Philippines.

Then this 'ere Dewey struck a pow'ful gait.

An mentioned how that somethin had ter drop. He kep' the colliers workin soon an late. An every blessed jackie on the hop. An w'en he got his bunkers chock a-block w'y, then he up an filled his magazines. An tol' 'em w'en they asked him wot's o'clock. "A little game o' Spanish Philippines!"

An w'en all's done he up an goes to sea. The other ships a-trailin in his rear. An w'en he sights them islands on his lee. He signals out fer every ship to clear. We done it with a ringin, rousin cheer. Fer w'y, we'd kind o' learned to like his style. The which were sich he made N to appear. He knowed wot he were doin all the while.

He kep' us on an off till close o' day. An then he kind o' squared around his chin. An wigwagged out: "Their ships is in the bay."

They won't come out, so I'm a-goin in! He knowed the odds ag'in him in the game.

He knowed the bay were mined for Uncle Sam; He likewise knowed that Dewey were his name. An, beln sich, he didn't care a slam!

So on we went, a-creepin through the night. Not knowin whereabouts that we was at. With every barker stripped in trim for fight.

An every blessed Jackie standin pat. An w'en the mornin broke, w'y, there we lay.

Lined up, each crew a-standin to its gun. Right in the middle o' Manila bay. Old Glory gleamin pretty in the sun!

There weren't no time ter talk about it then.

Fer Spain cut loose her iron in a shower. An powder monkeys turned ter fightin men.

An fightin men ter devils in an hour. 'Twere just one awful crashin, tearin roar. That seemed like it were bustin o' yer brain.

Along with shrieks o' Yankee shells thet bore. A message labeled, "Don't forget the Maine!"

Well, mebbe so—God knows thet they was there!

It weren't our fault the Spaniards couldn't aim.

Our ships was there to hit, as well they knows.

But, bless their hearts, we'd licked 'em just the same.

If they'd had gunners picked from all that grows!

So, mates, these words is all I've got ter say.

I says 'em, an I means 'em, every one: They ain't no other man alive terday.

Would tried ter do wot Dewey tried an done.

We knows it, us as sweat behind his guns. They knows it, them as writes the scroll of fame.

An w'en they tells o' heroes to our sons—W'y, mates, they'll head the list with Dewey's name!

RARE COIN UNEARTHED.

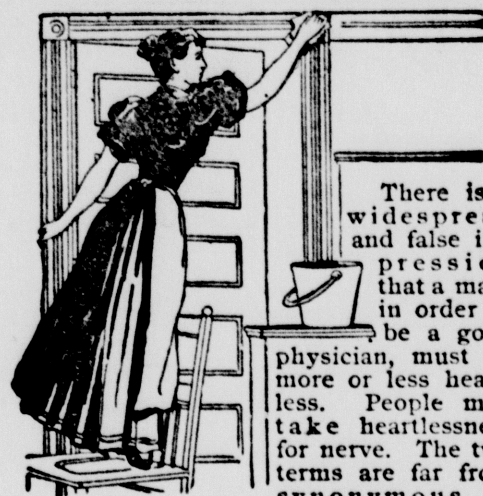

Found Behind a Window Sash in John Penn's House.

The coin collectors of Philadelphia are deeply interested over a rare golden coin found recently by James Furniss in front of the historical old building at Second and Walnut streets. The coin proved to be a sovereign nearly 200 years old and is said to be worth many, many times its original face value. The piece had evidently lain for over a century in a crack of the old bulk window, which is on the Second street front. In making a slight repair to the window Furniss pried open a crack in the lower part of the frame, and the coin dropped to the ground.

So black and disfigured was it with age the finder was not at first inclined to attach any importance to the find. However, an honest person, who recognized the value, made known the extent of the prize, and Furniss took it to a coin collector, who at once attempted to buy it. The old building in which the coin has lain concealed was built by John Penn, the son of William Penn, and for nearly half a century has been occupied by a gunsmith.—Philadelphia Record.

False Teeth That Grow.

A Moscow dentist has solved the problem of supplying the human mouth with false teeth which will grow into the gums as firmly as natural ones. Dr. Zamesky has performed several successful operations on dogs as well as human beings. The teeth are made of gutta percha, porcelain or metal, as the case may be. At the root of the false tooth holes are made. Holes are also made upward into the jaw. The tooth is then placed in the cavity. In a short time a softly granulated growth finds

There is a widespread and false impression that a man, in order to be a good physician, must be more or less heartless. People mistake heartlessness for nerve. The two terms are far from synonymous. A man may have a nerve of steel and a heart as tender as a mother's.

Of all the specialists in the world, there probably are not two that have as wide an experience in the treatment of women's diseases as Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. With the assistance of his staff of able physicians, he has prescribed, in the past thirty years, for many thousands of women. Dr. Pierce is pre-eminently a sympathetic physician. Perhaps more than any other man in the profession he realizes the hardships of woman's work, and the disadvantages under which she labors because of the weak, delicate and susceptible structure of the feminine organism. His immense practice in diseases peculiar to women forced upon his recognition the fact that women would never take the proper care of their health, so long as that care required the repugnant "examinations" and "local treatments" insisted upon by nearly all physicians. After years of study he invented a remedy now known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription that is an absolute and unfailing cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of diseases peculiar to women. This wonderful medicine cures in the privacy of the home, and does away with the necessity for obnoxious "local treatment." It imparts health, strength, vigor and elasticity to the organs distinctly feminine and fits for wifehood and motherhood.

AGUINALDO AND HIS AIDS

Members of the Filipino Dictator's Cabinet.

SIMPLY SHADOWS OF THE CHIEF.

Aguinaldo has so dominated the affairs of the so-called Filipino republic that little attention has been paid to his lieutenants and the men who have been assigned to places of nominal importance in the government. Indeed, most people would find difficulty in recalling to mind the names of any of Aguinaldo's cabinet ministers. One reason for this indifference to the individuality of the Filipino leaders below Aguinaldo may be found in the fact that nearly all of his subordinates are mere figureheads—men of no strength of character and little or no following among their own people. In all the forms of government instituted by Aguinaldo since last May there has not been one man who would allow himself to have an opinion—much less to express it—contrary to Aguinaldo's, except, possibly, General Pio del Pilar.

The latest reported Filipino cabinet consisted of the president of the revolutionary government, Emilio Aguinaldo himself; president of the cabinet and minister of foreign affairs, Senor Mabini; minister of the interior, Teodoro Sandico; minister of war, General Baldomero Aguinaldo, Emilio's cousin; minister of finance, Mariana Trias, and minister of public works, Gregorio Gonzaga.

Of these six men only three have ever been heard of outside of Manila before their appointment to office—namely, the two Aguinaldos and Sandico. His cousin Baldomero is a convenient figurehead. He has been prominent in the councils of the president ever since the latter landed in Cavite last May. He is regarded as a very "safe" man, ready to vote and direct exactly as he may be instructed. No one would expect him to venture an opinion on any important subject until he had learned the attitude of his chief.

Teodoro Sandico is a rather clever half caste, educated as an engineer, who was the medium through whom Aguinaldo worked when he was making our consul in Hongkong believe that he (the consul) was a diplomat of supreme sagacity and finesse. Poor Sandico really took our consul seriously for a time and believed that he had assisted in the negotiation of a treaty between the republic of the United States and the Filipino republic. It is true Aguinaldo was never deceived by the performances of our consuls at Singapore and Hongkong, but he now finds it convenient to pretend that he was led to "help" the Americans by the representatives of our government. As a matter of fact, Aguinaldo knew perfectly well the powers and the limitations of our consuls—a great deal better, in fact, than these men themselves knew them. When I recall the position of Sandico last June it seems absurd to think of him as one of Aguinaldo's cabinet.

One day the former United States consul to Manila, M. O. F. Williams, took on board the collier Nanshan a very nervous Filipino, who announced that he had come to that ship at Consul Williams' request preparatory to sailing for Hongkong. This man was Sandico, and when I questioned him about the purpose of his trip to Hongkong he let the cat out of the bag at once for the sake of getting my influence with Admiral Dewey to let him go in the coming trip of the Zafiro. He said that he was on very friendly terms with Senor Artacho, who had just arrived in Cavite from Hongkong; that Artacho had been arrested the day after his arrival and that he was to be shot that day; that he (Sandico) had barely escaped imprisonment because he had passed the night in the same house with Artacho, and that Consul Williams had saved his life by giving him asylum on board the Nanshan.

About this time one of Aguinaldo's staff, a slight young fellow named Legarda, came off to the Nanshan and told Sandico that Aguinaldo had sent for him to come ashore. Then followed a most interesting struggle on the part of Sandico to escape the fate that he felt sure had been meted out to Artacho and his four friends. Sandico fell back upon his position of supposed safety on board a United States vessel. Aguinaldo sent Legarda to Admiral Dewey with a request that his insubordinate officer be returned to his service. The admiral's eyes snapped when he learned that Sandico had taken refuge aboard the Nanshan at the request of Consul Williams, and he ordered Flag Lieutenant Brumby to see that Sandico was put ashore. The latter, finding that his asylum was to be taken from him begged Brumby and myself most piteously to intercede with the admiral to save his life.—Joseph L. Stickney in Chicago Record.

YES OR NO.

East-Liverpool People Are Respectfully Asked to Answer These Questions.

Is there anything in the evidence of one's senses?

Can the reader dispute and then disprove local evidence?

Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know?

Are the opinions of residents of East Liverpool of any greater moment than opinions held by residents of Maine or Michigan?

Would you sooner believe people living in those states than those in your own city?

Answer these questions honestly after you have quietly read the following:

Mr. R. H. Hawkins, an employee of Sebring's pottery, who lives at 234 Second street, says: "I had been taking medicine for my kidneys right along, and if I had found a cure I would have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled two years or more with distressing backache across the loins, a steady aching pain with quick twinges now and then while stooping or lifting, that felt as if a sharp instrument had pierced my back, and the secretions of the kidneys were highly colored, feverish or slightly scalding. Work seemed to be a drag; I had no energy, and I am more than thankful that I was induced to go to the W. & W. pharmacy and get Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking them there was no sign of my old complaint."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold for 50 cents per box by all dealers, or sent by mail on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PORTER'S MISSION.

No Reason For Germany to Complain of Her Tariff Arrangements With the United States.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—In an interview Robert P. Porter, who is expected to go to Berlin today, explained at some length the objects of his mission, prefaceing his remarks with the statement that since the war with Spain many continental countries had shown a disposition to make unfriendly discrimination against American products.

Referring to the recent statement in the Reichstag by Count von Posadowsky-Wenner, German imperial secretary of state for the interior, on the subject of the trade development of the United States with Germany, he said that a close study of the question did not warrant the conclusions drawn by Count Posadowsky-Wenner. On the contrary it showed most satisfactory and profitable trade conditions so far as Germany was concerned.

Further along, he said in part: "There can be no commercial difficulty between the United States and Germany, because, apart from Great Britain, America is knit more closely to Germany by bonds of kinship or mutual interests than to any other power. Individual interests may clash, but a fair analysis of the balance sheets of the two nations shows a healthful condition of trade, which is a subject for rejoicing rather than alarm, on both sides."

Appropriation Bill Likely to Pass in the House Today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Today is suspension day in the house under the rules, and advantage will be taken of it to pass the bill for the payment of $20,000,000 to Spain to carry out the terms of the Paris treaty. Under suspension of the rules amendments are not in order, so that the house will have no opportunity to vote upon any of the numerous expressions of future policy with which various members threatened.

Mr. Gillette of Massachusetts and others gave notice of amendments they would ask the house to vote on in connection with the appropriation before it was stricken from sundry civil bill, but they must now vote for or against the appropriation as reported. When confronted only with the alternative of voting against the appropriation it is not likely that half a dozen votes will be recorded against it.

Four People Found Dead—Evidences of Dissipation.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Chas. Fahrenkamp, aged 33 years, her two children, Florence and William, aged respectively 10 and 9 years, and an unknown woman, aged about 35 years, were found dead in a room in Mrs. Fahrenkamp's home, 1416 North Fifty-second street. The gas was turned on and life had apparently been extinct for several days. Scattered about the first floor were remnants of cigars and cigarettes and empty beer and whisky bottles.

AGAINST POLYGAMIST ROBERTS.

National Congress of Mothers Adopted a Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The National Congress of Mothers unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, The election of a polygamist to congress threatens the sacred institution of monogamous marriage, be it

Resolved, That the third triennial National Council of Mothers requests the congress of the United States to repudiate the result of the November election in Utah, either by refusing to allow Brigham H. Roberts of Utah to be placed on its roll or by expelling him from his seat.

The resolution was framed by Mrs. E. H. Parsons, a delegate from the Mothers' club of Utah, and was prefaced with the statement that man is largely what his home makes him.

Beresford Attended Church.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Lord Charles Beresford and party left for the east over the Michigan Central road. He expected to stop for a short time at Niagara Falls to view the ice bridge, and from Buffalo will go direct to Washington. Sunday morning Lord Charles, accompanied by Eugene Cary and W. O. Niblack of the Commercial club, attended divine service at Central church. Later, he took luncheon with Madame Melba. Lord Charles expressed himself as delighted with the reception given him in Chicago.

Agoncillo Left Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—Senor Agoncillo and his compatriot, Senor Marti, left Montreal bound for New York, enroute to London, expecting to sail on the American liner St. Paul on Wednesday. Their decision to depart was sudden, for the two latest additions to the Filipino embassy in the United States, E. R. Delios and N. Rivera, who arrived here from Chicago, were surprised at meeting Agoncillo and Marti in the station platform. Agoncillo, it was said, would take up the next move in the game, an attempt to interest the powers of Europe in the Philippines.

School Men to Meet.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 20.—The department of superintendence of the National Educational association holds a three-days' session here this week, opening tomorrow. Superintendent E. H. Mark of the Louisville schools, president of the department, has arrived in the city, and says he expects fully 1,000 educators from all parts of the country to be in attendance.

Twenty-one Passengers Killed.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 20.—An express train from Calais, having passengers from London on board, collided with a stationary train at Forest, near this city. Twenty-one persons were killed outright and 100 were more or less injured. There were no Englishmen or Americans among the victims.

May Cause Friction in the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The situation in the house has been greatly complicated by the action of the senate in placing the Nicaragua canal bill upon the river and harbor bill as a rider. This will doubtless precipitate a bitter fight in the house and may result in the loss of the bill. But the failure of the river and harbor bill will not make an extra session incumbent. But the contest over it will develop bad blood, produce friction which may make it all the more difficult with the other measures which must of necessity pass to avoid an extraordinary session.

Will Erect a Tablet to Gladstone.

Arrangements are being made for the erection of a tablet to the memory of Gladstone on the house in Rodney street, Liverpool, in which he was born. The work is being undertaken by the Historic Society of Lancashire and Cheshire, to whom the necessary permission has been granted by the possessor of the residence.—Chicago Times-Herald.

PORTER'S MISSION.

No Reason For Germany to Complain of Her Tariff Arrangements With the United States.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—In an interview Robert P. Porter, who is expected to go to Berlin today, explained at some length the objects of his mission, prefacing his remarks with the statement that since the war with Spain many continental countries had shown a disposition to make unfriendly discrimination against American products. Referring to the recent statement in the Reichstag by Count von Posadowsky-Wenner, German imperial secretary of state for the interior, on the subject of the trade development of the United States with Germany, he said that a close study of the question did not warrant the conclusions drawn by Count Posadowsky-Wenner. On the contrary it showed most satisfactory and profitable trade conditions so far as Germany was concerned. Further along, he said in part: "There can be no commercial difficulty between the United States and Germany, because, apart from Great Britain, America is knit more closely to Germany by bonds of kinship or mutual interests than to any other power. Individual interests may clash, but a fair analysis of the balance sheets of the two nations shows a healthful condition of trade, which is a subject for rejoicing rather than alarm, on both sides."

TO PAY SPAIN THE CASH.

Appropriation Bill Likely to Pass in the House Today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Today is suspension day in the house under the rules, and advantage will be taken of it to pass the bill for the payment of $20,000,000 to Spain to carry out the terms of the Paris treaty. Under suspension of the rules amendments are not in order, so that the house will have no opportunity to vote upon any of the numerous expressions of future policy with which various members threatened.

Mr. Gillette of Massachusetts and others gave notice of amendments they would ask the house to vote on in connection with the appropriation before it was stricken from sundry civil bill, but they must now vote for or against the appropriation as reported. When confronted only with the alternative of voting against the appropriation it is not likely that half a dozen votes will be recorded against it.

FATAL DEBAUCH.

Four People Found Dead—Evidences of Dissipation.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Chas. Fahrenkamp, aged 33 years, her two children, Florence and William, aged respectively 10 and 9 years, and an unknown woman, aged about 35 years, were found dead in a room in Mrs. Fahrenkamp's home, 1416 North Fifty-second street. The gas was turned on and life had apparently been extinct for several days. Scattered about the first floor were remnants of cigars and cigarettes and empty beer and whisky bottles.

AGAINST POLYGAMIST ROBERTS.

National Congress of Mothers Adopted a Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The National Congress of Mothers unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, The election of a polygamist to congress threatens the sacred institution of monogamous marriage, be it

Resolved, That the third triennial National Council of Mothers requests the congress of the United States to repudiate the result of the November election in Utah, either by refusing to allow Brigham H. Roberts of Utah to be placed on its roll or by expelling him from his seat.

The resolution was framed by Mrs. E. H. Parsons, a delegate from the Mothers' club of Utah, and was prefaced with the statement that man is largely what his home makes him.

Beresford Attended Church.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Lord Charles Beresford and party left for the east over the Michigan Central road. He expected to stop for a short time at Niagara Falls to view the ice bridge, and from Buffalo will go direct to Washington. Sunday morning Lord Charles, accompanied by Eugene Cary and W. O. Niblack of the Commercial club, attended divine service at Central church. Later, he took luncheon with Madame Melba. Lord Charles expressed himself as delighted with the reception given him in Chicago.

Agoncillo Left Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—Senor Agoncillo and his compatriot, Senor Marti, left Montreal bound for New York, enroute to London, expecting to sail on the American liner St. Paul on Wednesday. Their decision to depart was sudden, for the two latest additions to the Filipino embassy in the United States, E. R. Delkios and N. Rivera, who arrived here from Chicago, were surprised at meeting Agoncillo and Marti in the station platform. Agoncillo, it was said, would take up the next move in the game, an attempt to interest the powers of Europe in the Philippines.

School Men to Meet.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 20.—The department of superintendence of the National Educational association holds a three-days' session here this week, opening tomorrow. Superintendent E. H. Mark of the Louisville schools, president of the department, has arrived in the city, and says he expects fully 1,000 educators from all parts of the country to be in attendance.

Twenty-one Passengers Killed.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 20.—An express train from Calais, having passengers from London on board, collided with a stationary train at Forest, near this city. Twenty-one persons were killed outright and 100 were more or less injured. There were no Englishmen or Americans among the victims.

May Cause Friction in the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The situation in the house has been greatly complicated by the action of the senate in placing the Nicaragua canal bill upon the river and harbor bill as a rider. This will doubtless precipitate a bitter fight in the house and may result in the loss of the bill. But the failure of the river and harbor bill will not make an extra session incumbent. But the contest over it will develop bad blood, produce friction which may make it all the more difficult with the other measures which most of necessity pass to avoid an extraordinary session.

Will Erect a Tablet to Gladstone.

Arrangements are being made for the erection of a tablet to the memory of Gladstone on the house in Rodney street, Liverpool, in which he was born. The work is being undertaken by the Historic Society of Lancashire and Cheshire, to whom the necessary permission has been granted by the possessor of the residence.—Chicago Times-Herald.

TWO CENTS

PILAR MAY BE SHOT.

Seen Directing Filipinos, His Arm In a Sling.

CHURCH ABANDONED AND BURNED.

The Californians Retired and Took Up Another Position—Gunboats Failed to Dislodge Natives From a Position They Held—Weather Getting Very Hot.

MANILA, Feb. 20.—The enemy have apparently realized the hopelessness of attacking the American position and are occupied chiefly by occasional sharp-shooting from the jungle whenever feasible. Fortunately their ignorance of the use of sights minimizes the effect of their guerrilla tactics.

The retirement of General King's advance posts upon San Pedro Macati has evidently been construed by the rebels as a sign of weakness, as they pressed forward along both sides of the river, persistently harassing the occupants of the town.

MANILA, Feb. 20.—The California volunteers abandoned Guadalupe church, which was afterward set on fire, and retired to San Pedro Macati. The rebels held the country in the vicinity of Guadalupe, Pasig and Patero, despite the efforts of the gunboats to dislodge them from the jungle on both sides of the river.

The heat was intense and increasing perceptibly daily. Under the conditions it was impossible to provide shade for the troops in certain parts of the line, particularly McArthur's division. King's brigade was also exposed from San Pedro Macati to Culiculi, where it joined Overshine's brigade.

Mr. Higgins, the manager of the Manila-Daguapan railroad, was believed to be safe at Bayambang, although no communication had been received from him since Feb. 9. He was then housed at Mr. Clarke's place, with his wife and family and about six other Englishmen, some of whom were accompanied by their wives. While it was unlikely that the natives of the locality would harm them, it was feared that others from distant provinces might wreak vengeance at their expense.

In view of the fact that the enemy were concentrating on the American right flank, preparations were made Saturday night to give them a warm reception in the event of attack. General Overshine's line, consisting originally of the North Dakota volunteers, Fourteenth infantry and two troops of the Fourth cavalry, stretching from the beach at Camp Dewey to Gen. King's right, was reinforced by two battalions of Oregon volunteers and three troops of the Fourth cavalry as infantry.

The Buffalo's searchlight, discovering the rebels unusually active, about 10 o'clock in the evening, signalled the flagship for permission to fire upon them; and this being granted, bombarded the enemy's trenches for 20 minutes. The only effect of the fire was apparently to drive the rebels further inland.

Beyond a few ineffectual volleys from the trenches, which were returned with interest, the enemy made no demonstration and all was quiet along the rest of the line.

Scouts claimed to have seen General Pio del Pilar, who commanded the rebels at Paco, with his arm in a sling, directing the troops. General Montenegro, the insurgent commander-in-chief, was reported to have been personally conducting the movements in front of General King's line at San Pedro Macati.

MORE PORTO RICANS RESIGN.

General Henry Had Threatened to Jail Them.

SAN JUAN DE PORTO RICO, Feb. 20.—The mayor and a majority of the municipal council of San Juan tendered their resignations.

A few days ago the question of killing cattle for municipal consumption was referred to Gen. G. V. Henry, governor general of Porto Rico, by consent of all the parties interested. After an investigation General Henry issued an order regarding the matter and the mayor and members of the council declared that they would resign before complying with the governor's decree. General Henry, annoyed by their quarreling and childish actions, told them that if they did not stop trifling and obey orders he would have them imprisoned. Resignations followed.

RIOTING IN PARIS.

Loubet Was Elected President of the Republic—Demonstrations Against Him.

PARIS, Feb. 20.—Police measures for the maintenance of order were taken on an extensive scale. M. Loubet was elected president Saturday.

Demonstrations occurred last evening in front of the office of Sebastian Faure's anarchist paper, The Journal de Peuple, on the Boulevard Montmartre, for and against Loubet.

There was a collision between the rival factions and several persons were injured. The partisans of the newly elected president were worsted in the conflict and moved off to the Cafe Brebant, where they were again attacked and dispersed by their opponents. Many arrests were made.

Similar encounters occurred at the office of The Libre Parole.

M. Loubet was elected at the first balloting by 483 votes. There were altogether 817 voters out of 883 members of the assembly. The announcement was received with long and enthusiastic applause by all the Republicans, even including the 270 of their number who voted for Melme.

This shows that Loubet will be vigorously supported by the Republicans of every shade of opinion. The Republican demonstration completely drowned the frantic yells of derision uttered by the Nationalists, headed by Deroude and Drumont. Then the new president, escorted by a squadron of cavalry, got into a carriage and drove out between the superb gateway of the palace of Versailles.

He came by train to this city and was received with military honors. Amid renewed acclamations from the crowds the president proceeded to the Elysee palace, in order to pay a tribute of respect to the remains of the late President Faure. He then went to the foreign office, where he received the high officials of state and the diplomatic corps.

As the presidential carriage left the St. Lazare station a band of 30 or 40 persons ranged themselves on either side of the landau under the leadership of a couple of individuals who kept giving signals for shouts of "down with Loubet!" and "resign! resign!" The general public was apparently indifferent, and no active hostility was displayed. Many in the crowd saluted the president and cried "vive Loubet!" and "vive l'armee!" but the shouts of the demonstrators running beside the carriage drowned the friendly salutations.

The noise and excitement were redoubled when the carriage stopped at the Elysee. Here two compact, hostile groups were massed, hooting and blowing whistles. M. Loubet and Dupuy spent about 10 minutes with Mme. Faure and then proceeded to the Quai d'Orsay. On his journey thither M. Loubet was more favorably received by the public.

LIEUT. CASTNER'S HEROISM.

Awful Hardships on His Trip In Alaska. Narrowly Escaped Starvation and Death.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 20.—Advices from Dawson said that Lieutenant Castner of the Fourth United States infantry, who started almost a year ago from the southern coast of Alaska to explore the interior and find, if possible, an all American trail to the Yukon, arrived there. Finding the trail they had believed to exist impassable, Lieutenant Castner and two companions started to reach civilization. They put their provisions, guns, etc., on a raft and set it afloat on the Tanana river. The raft was wrecked the second day and all the provisions, rifles, axes, etc., lost.

All that was saved was a coil of rope. With the rope another raft was built, and for six days the three men floated down the river, living on berries and roseapples. They were without shoes or moccasins, their feet being covered by canvas tied with strings. Just as hope was almost gone the party drifted into an encampment of Tanana Indians. Here they were hospitably received and fed, and after resting were guided to a camp of white men, 100 miles up the stream, where the party rested until a boat could carry them to the Yukon.

PLEA FOR THE ARMY.

A Statement Issued by the War Department.

THE HULL BILL SUPPORTED.

Defects Pointed Out in the Measure Advocated by Senator Cockrell—Natives, It Was Declared, Cannot at Present Be Utilized as Soldiers in New Islands.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—A statement from the war department on pending army legislation and the needs of the service was issued with a request for publication. It referred to the two bills before congress. Of the Hull bill it said in part:

"The measure preserves the present organization and slightly strengthens the cavalry, augments the artillery and organizes that arm on a scientific basis suited to our conditions, gives to the infantry the much needed three battalion organization and makes only such additions to the staff as are absolutely indispensable. Under its provisions entrance to any branch of the army cannot be obtained until after the candidate for a commission has demonstrated his fitness for it to the satisfaction of a competent examining board. There is a clause empowering the president to extend or contract the enlisted strength according to the necessities of the country, providing for the first time a scheme adopted long since for all modern European military systems."

The statement further said in part: "The other bill is brought forward by Senator Cockrell. Its first section directs the disbandment of the volunteer army within a specified period after the peace treaty shall have been ratified by Spain. Sections two and three contain its principal provisions. By the former authority is conferred for continuing the regular army at its war strength until July 1, 1901, while the third section authorizes the president to raise military forces to the number of 35,000 in Cuba, Porto Rico and the islands of the Pacific, to be known, respectively, as the army of Cuba, the army of Porto Rico and the army of the islands of the Pacific, to be composed of the inhabitants of such islands. No organization is provided in the bill for this force, nor does it determine what relation it shall sustain toward the permanent military establishment of the United States; and no professional, educational, or other test is prescribed for the persons who are to officer it. The bill does not provide for any additional general officers, greatly needed in the administration of affairs in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines.

"Cuba now constitutes a military division, commanded by a major general and moreover comprises six military departments, commanded by general officers of volunteers. In Porto Rico there is a necessity for at least one general officer, and in the Philippines for the general officers required for an army corps, so that if Senator Cockrell's bill should become a law it would leave the army deficient not only in enlisted force, but without any general officers to administer the important duties now devolving upon the government.

"The criticism that has been passed upon the department has been the absence of sufficiently trained staff officers. The Cockrell amendment would perpetuate this alleged lameness.

"Should his bill be passed into law the adjutant, inspector, quartermaster, subsistence, medical and pay departments would be left with only the bare skeleton of the staff organizations that we have had for the administering of affairs in the United States alone previous to the declaration of war with Spain.

"The returns of the war department show the strength of the regular army, at this time, to be only a few less than 60,000 enlisted men. Of these there are nearly 14,000 in Cuba and a like number in or enroute to the Philippines, and in Porto Rico 4,586, leaving the total enlisted men of the regular army in the United States 24,000. Of these 6,000 are held in readiness for dispatch to reinforce the army at Manila. This would leave the total enlisted strength of the army within the United States less than 18,000, or nearly 4,000 less than is necessary to furnish a single relief to man the guns now on our seacoast fortifications. It would compel the abandonment of all our posts in the interior.

would strip the Indian country of troops and leave none to supply the requirements of an exigent condition.

"At this time there is not an officer on duty with any college in the United States.

"Neither has it (the department) been able to attach officers to our embassies and legations abroad. There should be one at every European capital, there are now but three in all, and those who were recalled to participate in the war cannot be returned.

"The passage of the Hawley bill would enable the department to meet this urgent requirement and also to re-establish the schools at Fort Leavenworth, the artillery school at Fort Monroe and the cavalry and light artillery school at Fort Riley, all of which are now closed for the want of officers. The passage of the Cockrell bill would discharge at once all the volunteer quartermasters, medical officers, commissaries, many of whom are officers of the regular army, holding volunteer commissions, and would leave the department with a corps of staff officers wholly inadequate with the increased demands that are being made from every quarter.

"The natives of Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines do not understand our purposes and ways of government sufficiently to admit of their being made part of our military establishment to the extent of organizing them into companies, battalions and regiments at once. Our officers of greatest experience with them are of this opinion. In time this could doubtless be done, but it will require education."

FATAL ACCIDENTS.

Man Killed in a Runaway, Near Linden. Another Met Death While Loading Logs.

TIFFIN, Feb. 20.—William Balcan, living near Linden, was killed in a runaway while returning home from church. His team took fright at a passing freight train. His wife was seriously, if not fatally injured.

FINDLAY, Feb. 20.—Porter Cooper, while loading logs on a car, was struck by a log. His skull was fractured and he was instantly killed.

MILLER'S BODY ARRIVED.

Remains Laid in State in Akron on Sunday.

AKRON, Feb. 20.—The remains of Lewis Miller arrived in Akron from New York about 7 o'clock Sunday morning over the Erie railroad and was at once taken to the First M. E. church, where they laid in state until 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. A. Edison were among those accompanying the body.

Funeral services will be conducted at the residence tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock by Rev. F. C. Haddock, pastor of the First M. E. church, assisted by Bishop J. H. Vincent and President Harper of the Chicago university. A memorial service will be conducted at the First M. E. church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Addresses will be made by George W. Crouse, Bishop Vincent and President Harper, who will represent the Chautauqua association, and others.

ANOTHER SUIT BROUGHT.

Monnett Moved Against a Refining Company.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 20.—Attorney General Monnett brought suit in the supreme court to oust the Argand Refining company of Marietta from the state on the grounds of non-user of its charter and removal of its place of business from Marietta to 26 Broadway, New York.

He will go after the Continental Tobacco company, which is doing business in this state at Middletown, on the ground that it is a trust. This suit will also be filed in the supreme court.

The Appraisal Reduced.

AKRON, Feb. 20.—H. C. Corson, M. O'Neil and H. M. Hollinger, appraisers of the property of the Akron Street Railway and Illuminating company, made their report. A valuation of $695,500 is placed on the assets of the company. The first appraisal was for $932,686.63. This was considered too high and embarrassed the plans for reorganization. It included $500,000 for franchises, and this is probably the place where the reduction chiefly fell.

Thieves Ransacked Brice Mansion.

LIMA, O., Feb. 20.—Thieves ransacked the residence of the late Calvin S. Brice, in this city, to which it is supposed many valuables had been shipped from the Brice residence in New York. Mrs. Meilly, mother of Mrs. Brice, who occupied the home here, is out of the city, and Mrs. Brice is in New York, so that the amount of goods stolen is not known. Much damage was done to the furnishings of the house by the thieves.

MILLER WON THE RACE.

Gimm Retired Before It Was Over. Dropped to Fifth Place.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 20.—The six-day race was ended at 10:15 last night. The contestants were all on the track except Gimm, who retired about 8 p. m. and did not return.

The final score was as follows: Miller, 2,192 miles; Aaronson, 2,146; Fredericks, 2,090 miles and 2 laps; Hale, 2,062; Gimm, 2,060; Nawn, 2,012-2; Alberts, 1,828-2; Barnaby, 1,792-7; Pilkington, 1,729; Lawson, 1,635-4; Julius, 1,501-4; Ashinger, 1,500-6.

PROTEST OF WORKMEN

Want Sunday Work Stopped In Pittsburg Mills.

A BIG MASSMEETING WAS HELD.

President Shaffer of the Amalgamated Association One of the Speakers and Vice President Collier Presided—Rev. Dr. Webb Spoke—Resolutions Adopted.

PITTSBURG, Feb. 20.—The meeting held in the Bijou theater under the auspices of the Amalgamated Association of Iron and Steel Workers and the Federation of Churches of Pittsburg, Allegheny City and vicinity was the most radical protest ever made in this city against Sunday labor in the mills. About 1,200 workmen were present and a number of ladies participated in the meeting. A few millworkers occupied prominent positions, but the attendance from this class was not large.

For some time an effort has been in progress to insure to the millworkers of this vicinity one day's rest in seven. Theodore J. Shaffer, president of the Amalgamated association, said that while the larger establishments which demand labor on Sunday had not changed their custom in this respect, many of the smaller establishments had been induced to refrain from inaugurating such methods of work.

W. S. Collier, vice president of the first district of the Amalgamated association, presided. An opening prayer was offered by Rev. C. Fitzwilliam, pastor of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church. Many of the leading ministers of the two cities occupied seats on the platform.

Rev. W. C. Webb, D. D., of Philadelphia, at present the field secretary of the Federation of Churches, discussed "The Workingman's Sunday."

President Shaffer also spoke and strong resolutions were adopted.

MANY CHINESE KILLED.

Serious Conflict Said to Have Occurred With Russians.

PEKIN, Feb. 20.—A serious conflict has taken place between the Russians and Chinese at Tachenwan, 300 of the latter being killed.

It is said to have originated in a question of taxes.

JONES STICKS TO SILVER.

Declared the Chicago Platform Would Be Again Adopted by Democrats.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Senator Jas. K. Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee, is not in accord with Mr. Croker of New York and Mr. Wall of Wisconsin regarding the paramount issue in the next presidential campaign. He said in part:

"To say that the next Democratic national convention will reaffirm the position taken by the convention in 1896 is to assert what every candid man, even slightly familiar with existing facts, knows to be true. It is as certain as anything human can be that the question of bimetalism will be the leading issue in the campaign next year. And it is reasonable to expect that the majority of the people will next time declare for the party which means what it says and will redeem its pledges, and that they will not again be tricked into casting their votes in favor of the enemies of the principles in which they believe."

He said that the Republicans' declaration for international bimetalism caused some bimetalists to vote the Republican ticket. The business boom he declared was due to the war.

TO PROTECT NAVAL BOYS.

Secretary Long Told Why Sale of Beer Was Stopped on Ships.

BOSTON, Feb. 20.—In regard to the recent order of the navy department prohibiting the sale of beer on ships of the navy, Secretary Long in an interview said the order was issued principally for the protection of apprentice boys in the service. Said he in part:

"It is not true that any society outside the service caused the issuing of the order. It was done at the solicitation of naval officers themselves, who were actuated by a sense of duty to the service. The sale of beer on shipboard was regarded by many of them as an evil and they sought to abate it."

It also, he declared, removed a temptation from the men.

Shirt Company Failed.

LEOMINSTER, Mass., Feb. 20.—The Leominster shirt company made an assignment to D. Curtis Nickerson. The liabilities are $150,000, the heaviest creditors being New York parties. The company was started 18 years ago and for a long time employed 600 hands, making 500 dozen shirts a week.

Lafayette Monument Meeting.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Columbia theater was well filled at a meeting held under the auspices of societies of the Sons of the Revolution and of the American Revolution in aid of the fund for the proposed statue of Lafayette to be erected by Americans in Paris.

WENT AFTER BLAKE

Anti-Saloon Orators Related the Story

OF HIS WORK LAST WINTER

When He Introduced a Bill Repealing Important Temperance Legislation, and Voted For Other Bad Bills—Interesting Services.

Anti-Saloon League Sunday was observed in the city yesterday, Superintendent P. A. Baker, Assistant Superintendent G. J. Raynor and Prof. T. W. Karr having charge of the services. The most important part of each meeting was the manner in which the gentlemen scored Senator W. V. Blake and Representative Ashford for the part they had taken in liquor legislation, the keenest sarcasm being leveled at the guilty ones while the story of their action was being related.

FIRST U. P. CHURCH.

Superintendent Baker Showed Councilmanic Responsibility.

Mr. Baker said: "It was said long ago 'Woe to a man that buildeth a town with blood.' If God were to utter it today he would say 'woe to the council that buildeth a town with blood.' I say this because the general assembly of Ohio has delegated the control of the liquor business to the councils of municipalities. They have autocratic power, save in the increase of the tax, and can close saloons at any hour, remove screens, provide for one room with but one entrance or abolish the sale of liquor within their jurisdiction. Every drunken wife and starving child, every groan and pain caused by the liquor shop can be traced directly to the council that created it. Ex-president Harrison recently said that the greatest peril of this country lay in the fact that men elected to executive positions took upon themselves the duties of the legislative and judicial. We have an example in Columbus where the mayor enforces such laws as he sees fit. Not long ago congress ordered the President to declare war against another nation. We all know the President didn't believe every resource of diplomacy had been exhausted, but if he had not done as congress demanded every patriotic citizen would say he was guilty of treason and should be impeached. If your mayor refuses to enforce the law he is guilty of civil treason as the President would have been guilty of national treason. We become enthusiastic over national politics, but how often do we pray for God to direct the council, the mayor or even the policeman who paces past our door? If you would destroy political bosses and municipal misrule, destroy the saloon. The church is the remedy. No other organization can grapple with the evil. Organized sin must be met by organized righteousness. The church is a perfect organization, but collectively a rope of sand; singly the saloon is nothing, but when threatened it is a power. Why don't we get together? Because we can't distinguish between politics and partisanship. I don't believe in the minister who talks partisanship from his pulpit, nor in one who does not talk politics.

"I didn't want to come to Columbiana county, because the samples of your people you had sent to the legislature were so bad, but when I look into the honest faces here I know you sent the poorest you had."

Mr. Baker then went over the record of Senator Blake in the last legislature, showing that he had introduced the bill to repeal the law prohibiting the sale of liquor within two miles of an agricultural fair when no other man could be found to do it, and had voted for the repeal of the Adair law. He also paid his respects to Representative Ashford.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Gilbert J. Raynor Sent Shots In Every Direction.

Assistant Superintendent Gilbert J. Raynor had charge of the services at the First M. E. church and delivered a very interesting address. The speaker took for his text, "Thy Kingdom Come," and said that the mighty move for the federation of all the churches in the great work was tending toward building up the kingdom. He told how the Anti-Saloon league had commenced its career five years ago in Oberlin with a few Christian men, but today it was organized in 23 states in the union, and it was hoped that in another year every state in the union would have an organized anti-saloon movement. He spoke of how in Toledo the first year of the organization but eight churches had been willing to permit meetings in their churches, but this year every church in the city had opened their doors to the representatives of the league. He spoke of the league working in harmony with all temperance organizations, and stated that anything that calls attention to the liquor traffic was an argument against it.

He spoke of the Akron case, and told how the saloonkeeper hated to have his business advertised, because he was in crime. He spoke of how Harry Mason was elected speaker of the house at a cost of $40,000, and of the various liquor bills introduced in the legislature, and in speaking of the one repealing the right to sell liquor within two miles of a fair ground said: "I wish I didn't have to say it, but the senator from this county introduced the bill to repeal that law. My respect for the so-called decency of the Ohio legislature went down when it was possible for a man to stoop so low as to do that. I cannot trust myself to say more on that subject. We are going to show the legislators there is a church vote in the state as well as a saloon vote."

Reverend Baker occupied the pulpit in the evening, and made an address even more stirring than that given at the First U. P. church in the morning. Among other things he said:

"We have all been surprised to find such a splendid moral sentiment here as in Cleveland, but in each city there is a newspaper with a moral backbone."

Mr. Raynor occupied the pulpit at the Methodist Protestant church last night, and delivered a characteristic address. The afternoon meeting at the Young Men's Christian association was largely attended and decidedly interesting.

All the party remained in the city today, and this evening an illustrated lecture will be given at the First Presbyterian church. The public is cordially invited.

Few Vacant Houses.

At present there are very few vacant houses in this part of the city. Several were vacated last week and already their owners have received a number of applications for the buildings from parties living in the city. The rents are very low considering the kind of houses which are vacant and before the week ends they will no doubt be occupied.

ROBBED A LITTLE GIRL

A Big Man Caught Her In the Diamond,

PUT HIS HAND OVER HER MOUTH

And Took From Her Pocketbook the 60 Cents It Contained—Then He Returned the Pocketbook and Disappeared—Description of the Man.

One of the boldest robberies ever committed in the city took place Saturday evening near the Diamond.

Annie, the 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Gibson, 115 Pleasant street, about 5:30 Saturday afternoon was sent to a store in the Diamond by her mother.

She had gone to the store and purchased what she wanted and was standing on the sidewalk preparatory to going home when a man approached her and asked her to take a note to Second street and he would pay her for it. She refused and he caught hold of her and started with her along Fifth street. When Washington street was reached he caught her and held his hand over her mouth while he took her pocketbook. She broke away and ran as soon as he released his grip, but the fellow followed her and handed her the pocketbook. He had, however, taken from it the 60 cents which it contained.

The little girl started for her home crying, and when she reached the corner of Sixth and Franklin streets quite a crowd of men and women had gathered and numerous remarks were made, and it would have gone hard with the thief if he had fallen into their hands.

The girl was unable to describe the thief beyond the fact that he was not very tall and had curly hair and wore a brown coat and hat. She was badly frightened, and her only thought was to escape. The police were not notified of the affair.

THE CARNIVAL.

Executive Committee of the Elks Are Working Hard.

The executive committee of the Elks met Saturday evening and made arrangements for a pottery exhibit connected with which will be a miniature pottery, and visitors will be given a souvenir which they will have the privilege of seeing made.

It is also proposed to issue a centennial souvenir giving a complete history of the city, while free platform entertainments will be given every evening during the carnival. The local exhibits will be thoroughly up to date and the star attraction of the carnival will be greatly strengthened as the manager, Kabeeb Katool, started last week for Algiers and Egypt to secure additions to the menagerie, while a contract has just been signed with La Belle Rosa, the celebrated Turkish dancer. All the side show features of the carnival will be eliminated.

BUSINESS FALLING OFF.

Rising Temperature Made the Township Trustees Happy.

Business at the office of the township trustees showed a decided falling off Saturday and today, causing joy in the hearts of the officials.

It is noticed that when the temperature rises the demands on the resources of the trustees usually decrease, and the present is no exception. It is always a welcome relief, for the trustees are ever endeavoring to reduce their expense list.

NO ONE WOULD FIGHT

With a Youth Anxious to Win Pugilistic Honors.

A young man under the influence of liquor created some excitement in the Diamond late Saturday night by declaring that he could whip anything on earth. He was very anxious to fight, and an effort was made to accommodate him, but nobody could be secured to meet him in pitched battle.

Prejudice and Conviction.

There is a time in the life of many young men when the claims of Christianity seem unreasonable or at least of doubtful force. It is a period of development when the rational powers are asserting their rights and the young reason has not acquired skill to sift truth from error. Happy is he who in such a time fills his mind with the Bible facts and allows his mental powers to mature before he settles his philosophy! Some become skeptics because of lack of knowledge of the facts. Even the famous scholar Max Muller was for some time credited with being skeptical of Scripture truth. He found that a reading of it carefully changed his whole attitude, removed his prejudices and produced conviction.

BULLET PROOF CUIRASS.

French Invention Not Penetrated by Mauser Bullet at Seventy Yards.

Remarkable experiments with a new cuirass constructed by a French inventor named Threand were made at Asnieres, four miles from Paris, the other day. The essential portion of the cuirass is a sheet of metal, the composition of which is a secret. The plate is fitted with an inner and an outer lining, the nature of which is also a secret. The manner in which the linings are fixed is said to add to their impenetrability.

The weight of the cuirass is about 7 pounds 14 ounces. A Mauser rifle of six millimeter caliber was employed in the test at a distance of 70 yards. The shot struck the cuirass in the center. The front of the cuirass was found to be torn, but the indentation of the metal plate was very slight, while the back lining was intact. "In a word," the report of the experiments says, "the impenetrability of the cuirass was proved to be perfect."—Special Cable to New York Sun.

ICE BEGAN TO MOVE

But the River Did Not Clear Rapidly.

DAMAGE TO SHANTY BOATS

The Grinding Masses of Ice Broke In Their Sides and One Was Turned Over--There Were Several Starts Yesterday Afternoon.

The ice in the river at this place was intact this morning, but before the stream cleared much damage was anticipated by owners of coal fleets and shanty boats. So far no damage has been caused the coal fleets but to the shanty boats damage to the amount of $550 has been estimated.

At 3:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon the ice broke for the first time. Between that time and 6 o'clock this morning the ice broke five times. This caused a gorge to form between Market and Union streets. The ice crowded the Virginia shore, and in some instances the ice was piled as high as 15 feet along the rocks. This caused the ice in the stream to crowd the Ohio shore. Several flats of the Moore coal fleet broke with the ferryboat Dispatch. They floated with the ice about 100 feet, and were caught and tied to the shore.

During the night ice started several times, and the Moore flat crowded against the City of Liverpool, a shantyboat owned by Mr. Cope, and damaged it to the extent of $50.

A boat lying south of this craft named the Mountain State and owned by Alfred Haines was totally wrecked. The craft was valued at $250.

A boat owned by Artie Petty was damaged to the extent of $150.

"The trials of a rivermen are many" said Robert Valentine to a reporter while he was trying to get his boat loose from the ground. The craft was frozen to the ground and the river was rising.

A boat occupied by John Williams was upset during the crowding of the ice to the shore back of Williams' mill yesterday afternoon. Aside from the difficulties, he lost nothing. This morning the craft was righted.

During the first break Jake Barnhart, of the Virginia side, walked over the stream. It was thought he would lose his life, but he reached the Ohio shore in safety. After it gorged at 4:30 o'clock he walked to his home again.

By accident Jason Neville, of Fourth street, fell in the river at Moore's landing yesterday. He was not injured, but got a good ducking.

The ice started out with a rush at 11:15 this morning, and in an hour the river was well cleared.

Latest Styles In Muffs.

The latest style of muff is provided with a pocket for the owner's pet dog. The large muffs now in style are such spacious affairs that there is ample room for a small dog, and this provision makes it possible to keep the pets out of harm's way. The new muff is provided with a slit from 6 to 8 inches long, running lengthwise, which opens into a pocket measuring about 6 or 8 inches by 10 or 12 deep. The dog is stowed away comfortably inside, with only its head appearing above outside. One advantage which the muff offers is that the dog is allowed to ride on the street cars, whereas a dog led by a leash is not so much as allowed on the platform.—New York World.

BANQUET OF JAYHAWKERS.

Surviving Members Unable to Meet at Colonel John B. Colton's Home.

The forty-ninth anniversary of the rescue of the famous "Jayhawker" party fell on Feb. 8. It has long been the custom for the surviving members of that party to meet at the home of Colonel John B. Colton, 439 Bellefontaine avenue, Kansas City, on that date and celebrate the day by taking dinner together and talking over old times. But on Feb. 8 Colonel Colton ate his dinner alone.

The "Jayhawker" party was a company of emigrants which started from Galesburg, Ill., in April, 1849, to cross the desert in search of gold in California. The party crossed the Missouri river at the point where Omaha now stands and reached the Great Salt Lake without adventure other than those attendant upon travel by wagon in those days. In choosing routes to California from that point the Illinois party took the southern trail and was lost in that waste now known as the Colorado desert. For days they wandered without food or water and almost without hope, numbers of the party dying. There was one woman in the party, and she is still living. On the 4th day of February, 1850, the surviving members of the party crossed the range into the Santa Clara valley and were given food and shelter by the Spanish settlers.

Every year for many years past Colonel Colton has invited the survivors of the party to celebrate the day at his home. They met on several occasions, but this year none came. Luther A. Richards of Beaver City, Neb., and Colonel Colton of Kansas City are the only two now living east of the Sierra Nevada mountains. Mr. Richards was prevented by a sudden attack of grip from attending. The surviving Jayhawkers are: John B. Colton, Kansas City; Luther A. Richards, Beaver City, Neb.; Charles B. Mecum, Perry, Ia.; Thomas Shannon, Los Gatos, Cal.; L. Dow Stephens, San Jose, Cal.; Harrison B. Franz, Baker City, Or.; Urban P. Davidson, Thermopolis, Wyo.; John Grosoup, Laytonville, Cal.; and Mrs. J. W. Brier, Lodi, Cal.—Kansas City Times.

NEW STYLE BICYCLE.

French Automatic Machine Suitable For One or Two Persons.

Nothing has been said publicly by those who are attempting to establish automotors and autotrucks in many of the cities of the United States of an even more extensive employment of the automatic principle which it is believed will be witnessed within the next five or six years in the United States. It has already come to France, and news received from Paris recently indicates that the impression prevails there that speedily the bicycle will be supplanted in great measure by the automobile suitable for one or two persons.

It is expected that this carriage will be made at a much less cost than has heretofore been entailed, and it is asserted that in France the way has been found to convert the bicycle into an automatic machine, although it will not really be a bicycle, since it will have three wheels. These machines are said to cost no more than a first class bicycle, and fashionable Paris is beginning to be enthusiastic over them. They will be introduced into the United States probably early next summer, and the conjecture is that they will gain as great favor as the bicycle has done, especially among those who found it difficult to learn to ride the wheel and still more difficult and tiresome to propel it.—Holland in Philadelphia Press.

NERNST ELECTRIC LAMP

Invention of a Young German Professor.

WILL WORK AT ANY PRESSURE

Does Not Require Inclosure in Vacuum—Light is Emitted by a Rod Composed of Rare Earths and is Mild and Yellowish—May Replace the Present Incandescent.

Walter Nernst, a professor in the Gottingen university, has invented an electric lamp which does not require inclosure in vacuum, as is the case with the present glow lamp.

The Nernst lamp is emitted by a rod composed of rare earths, similar to those used in the manufacture of the Welsbach mantle. These rods do not conduct electricity cold, but heated. They give out a mild, yellowish light and work equally well at any pressure, with consequent economy in copper.

The invention was discussed by the Society of Arts in London the other evening. Messrs. Swinburne and Ayrton, the celebrated chemists, declared it to be the greatest discovery in many years. The invention created a sensation among the members of the society.

Professor Nernst's lamp is intended to take the place of the ordinary incandescent electric lamp, and, according to the records which he has made in experimental work, it promises great economy in the production of light. As used in the present incandescent or glow lamps, the electric current is conducted to a filament of carbon, which, because of its electrical resistance, or choking effect upon the current, is raised to a white heat and thus emits light.

To prevent the destruction of the carbon by burning it is inclosed in glass bulbs from which the air has been exhausted. Professor Nernst does away with the glass bulb entirely, for in place of the combustible carbon filament he uses filaments of magnesium oxide or other materials which are incombustible. These materials are notable for the large proportion of visible light rays which they radiate. The limelight and the Welsbach gaslight mantles are examples of their value in this regard. These materials are, however, under ordinary circumstances nonconductors of electricity, and Professor Nernst's discovery, which admits their use, is that when they are heated they become conductors.

Using this discovery in experiments with a hollow magnesium tube, he obtained results which showed the expenditure of only .96 watts of electrical energy per candle power against about three watts per candle power for the ordinary glow lamp. This economy in the use of electric energy could be utilized either by putting three times as many lamps on a wire circuit or by reducing the size, and consequently the cost, of the copper conductors for the current. The cost of these is now great.

So far as has been made public, Professor Nernst has not yet settled upon a commercial form for his lamp. In an experimental form he accomplishes the initial heating of the magnesium filament by placing it in the focus of a reflector, under which is also a spiral coil of platinum wire. A current is first passed through the platinum, which furnishes heat enough at the focus of the reflector to render the magnesium conductive. The current is then switched through the magnesium, and this, becoming incandescent, gives out the light and also gives out heat enough to maintain its own conductivity.—Special Cable New York Sun.

MR. M'KINLEY'S VALET.

Secret Service Pays "Frenchy" to Care For the President's Clothes.

"Frenchy," as he is known to the employees and attaches of the White House, is President McKinley's valet. At least that is the title his function would entitle him to with any other person than the ruler of a democratic nation.

His first claim on the president's household is that he is the husband of Mrs. McKinley's maid. He came to Washington with the family and began to make himself useful about the White House by performing the duties of a gentleman's gentleman with Mr. McKinley's wardrobe until now he is a regular employee and accompanies the president on all of his trips.

There is no better groomed or neater dressed man in Washington than President McKinley, but were this not the case "Frenchy" could hardly be earning his salary, for he is employed in the secret service—assigned to watch over the president's clothes and see to it that none of them escape—and is carried on Uncle Sam's pay roll at a comfortable sum per year.—New York World.

Whiskers Show the Officer's Post.

Washington is the Mecca for all who wear shoulder straps upon their military blouses, and like the sailors of olden times, who could tell what port a vessel hailed from by the cut of her jil an observer can usually name the station where an officer last served by the cut of his whiskers, and there seems to have been a concerted desire on the part of all to experiment with them.

hirsute growth as soon as they donned a uniform. From Santiago comes the Vandyke—pure, exaggerated and attempted. From Havana the Burnside and mustache, or the Burnsidean natural. From Porto Rico the "little bunch of whiskers on his chin," or the Dutch comedian's favorite. From Manila the mustache, patterned after the Dewey, Merritt, Miles and Emperor William or butterfly styles. Among the older military men at the war department the Alger-Eagan type of hirsute fungi enjoys wide popularity.—New York World.

HORRORS OF WAR IN SAMOA.

Missionary's Wife Tells of Outrages Committed on Helpless Victims.

Civilized people in America have no idea of the atrocities which were committed by the natives in the course of the war that was precipitated by the machinations of the German consul and other prominent people of that nationality.

The following scenes were witnessed by a missionary's wife, and I give the story as it was told by her:

"All the poor women and children without homes took refuge in the Malua stone mission house—some 200 in all. The wounded were taken up there, and the rooms and bathroom were red with blood. One man died on the following day. Several natives were killed. One man ran into the sea, but the insurgents followed him and chopped off his head. The body was floating about for a long time.

"Much damage has been done by the Ulualis—the young bloods, or Samoan roughs—whom the chiefs cannot control. They go about in small bands, take everything out of the houses and then burn them to the ground. Nearly every native house between Maba and Apia was burned to the ground. The bananas were torn down and the breadfruit trees cut round each stem, so that they will all die. There were hundreds of people crammed into the church in Apia, but these brutes, the Ulualis, rushed in and actually stripped the women of their clothes. If they could not get rings off quickly, they chopped off the victims' fingers to get the jewelry.

"We saw a fleet of boats going over to Savai and heard that they were going over to burn the Malietoa villages there. They have threatened Mr. Newell (one of the missionaries), and it is hardly safe for him to be seen. The chief justice was to be assassinated one night, but friendly natives got to hear of it and surrounded the house. The chief justice's people were terrified, because they did not know at first whether they were surrounded by foes or friends."—Cor. New York Journal.

DEWEY TO SEE IT OUT.

To Remain at Manila Is His Dearest Desire, Says a Friend.

Mrs. Arthur Lee, who recently returned from a honeymoon tour around the world, during which, with her husband, she was the guest of Admiral Dewey on the Olympia at Manila, says that she looks upon his remarks to her as being expressive of his greatest desire, when he said: "I am deeply interested in the Philippine situation and hope to be permitted to remain here and see it through to the finish."

Mrs. Lee says that Admiral Dewey, when asked to give his opinion of expansion, excused himself adroitly. "Admiral Dewey told me," says Mrs. Lee, "that he has been twice, I think, to Manila. His duties keep him very closely confined to his ship and to Cavite, off which the Olympia is anchored. You can have no idea of the incessant demands upon his time. Just before I left he was being worried about the subject of the Chinese immigration. The Chinese are pouring into Manila in hordes under the impression or hope that they can thus be recognized as American citizens.

"Admiral Dewey is looking well and has, I reckon, gained considerably in weight."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Shang Fang Sword.

The Shang Fang sword is a more portentous weapon than Excalibur could ever have been. It is a Chinese weapon, and it confers upon its recipient the power to decapitate whomsoever he may select as the object of his wrath. It had until a week or two since only been given to one Chinaman in the preceding century. Now it has been bestowed by the empress upon two. These are Prince Tsai Chi and Prince Tsai Lien, whose claim to the distinction is that they were the first Chinese dignitaries to appeal to the empress to save the country from the reform schemes of the emperor.—London Chronicle.

The Most Ungrammatical Sentence.

What is the most ungrammatical sentence ever spoken? The following would be hard to beat. It was enunciated by a little girl who was driving along a country road with her father. Seeing a flock of sheep in a neighboring meadow, she asked, "Is them sheeps yours?" Four words, and all wrong.—London Answers.

HOW COLONIES COUNT.

Trade Advantages Enjoyed by Great Britain's System.

COLONIES PATRONIZE HOME LANDS.

The Case of France and the Netherlands—A Market Worth $300,000,000 a Year—Exports to and Imports From British Dependencies—Colonial Railways and Telegraph Lines.

The non-British world buys 15 per cent of its total foreign merchandise from the United Kingdom. The British colonial world buys 48 per cent of its foreign merchandise from the United Kingdom. The total imports of the British colonies amount to $1,075,000,000 annually. Great Britain, by supplying 48 per cent of this instead of 15 per cent, which she averages in the commerce of other countries, makes an additional market for $300,000,000 annually of her products. Her total exports to foreign countries (omitting the colonies) are $1,030,000,000, or 15 per cent of their total imports, and if to this were added a like percentage of the imports of the colonies her total sales would be $1,190,000,000 instead of the grand total of $1,480,000,000, which she enjoyed in 1896, the year to which these figures relate. It is thus apparent that her sales are enlarged through her colonial system in the sum of about $300,000,000 in round figures, or $300,000,000 per annum, thus increasing by 25 per cent her total exports and creating by her colonial system a market for $300,000,000 worth of her products and manufactures.

These are some of the facts shown in a recent publication of the treasury bureau of statistics on the colonies, protectorates and dependencies of the world. French colonies buy quite as largely from the home country as do those of Great Britain, and even the Netherlands colonies purchase largely from the mother country, although located on the opposite side of the earth.

Not only has Great Britain added to her market by bringing the 350,000,000 people of her colonies into the colonial relationship, but there has evidently been through the material development which has followed this relationship a great increase in the purchasing power. The construction of highways, harbors, railways and telegraphs has evidently quickened the general business conditions, and with the increased activity and prosperity enlarged the consuming power.

That the construction of roads, harbors, railways, telegraphs and the establishment of postal and banking facilities must increase the activity, productiveness and consequent consuming power, goes without saying. The railways now in the British colonies alone are more than 55,000 miles in length, the telegraph lines nearly 150,000 miles and the highways far in excess of that. A large proportion of the railway lines is under the control and in many cases operated by the government, and it is an interesting fact that the lines operated by the government expend a smaller proportion of their total receipts in running expenses than those operated by private corporations. In nearly all the colonies there are savings banks in conjunction with the postoffices, and the deposits in the savings banks of the colonies amount to more than $300,000,000.

In the import trade of Great Britain the colonies also prove advantageous from the British standpoint. Over one-fifth of the more than $2,000,000,000 which Great Britain sends outside of her immediate limits in purchase of supplies is spent among the people of her colonies and thus largely contributes to the prosperity of either British colonies or British capital. That the industries of the colonies are to a considerable extent controlled by British capital goes without saying, and that the expenditure of nearly $500,000,000 of British money in British colonies each year for the products of those colonies must benefit the capital thus employed, and so reflect to the business advantage of the home country whence that capital is drawn is equally apparent. The total imports into Great Britain from the colonies in 1896 were over $465,000,000 and in 1891 were over $495,000,000, or in round terms $500,000,000, forming more than one-fifth of the total imports into the United Kingdom.

Total value of exports of the United Kingdom in 1897 to its colonies amounted to $434,821,845; the imports amounted to $470,094,665. Total value of exports of the United Kingdom to foreign countries in the same year amounted to $1,036,048,745, the imports to $1,785,050,135.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

UNION LABELS.

It should be a deep-rooted principle of all union workmen and union sympathizers, and particularly those members of the different organizations of East Liverpool, to buy nothing but Union Label goods, in preference to all others. And why not? If we ask fair wages for our labor, why should we buy goods made at unfair wages by others? The Union Label in every industry is a guarantee of fair wages, decent working hours, and union labor employed.

PATRONIZE UNION CLERKS.

UNION MADE BOOTS AND SHOES.

The Boot and Shoe Workers' union is the national head of the trade, and is a new combination of all the branches of boot and shoe workers. The above trade-mark when found on the sole or lining of a boot or shoe, is a guarantee that the same is made by union labor. Look for the above design stamped on the sole of every pair of boots or shoes you buy.

The Journeymen Tailor's Label is to be found in the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the under side of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants. It is printed in black ink on white linen.

UNION MADE HATS.

This Label is about an inch and a half square, and is printed on buff-colored paper. It is placed on every union made hat before it leaves the workman's hands. If a dealer takes a label from one hat and places it in another, or has any detached labels in his store, do not buy from him, as his labels may be counterfeit, and his hats may be the product of scab or non-union labor.

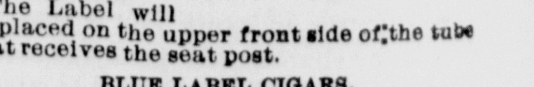

UNION MADE CLOTHES.

You will find the Linen label attached by machine stitching to the inside breast pocket of the coat, on the inside of the buckle strap of the vest, and on the waistband lining of the pants.

BICYCLE LABEL.

"Do unto others as ye would that others should do unto you." You will endorse the "Golden Rule" by buying and riding bicycles bearing this Label. The colors are as follows: The Union shield is in red, white and blue, on a background of pea green, bordered by gold. The Label will be placed on the upper front side of the tube that receives the seat post.

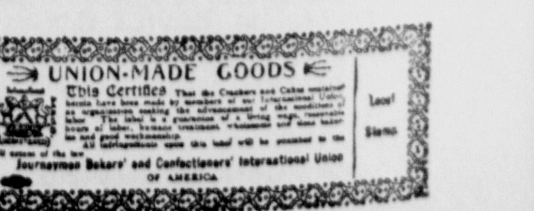

This label is printed in black ink on light blue paper, and is pasted on the cigar-box. Don't mix it up with the U. S. revenue label on the box, as the latter is nearly of a similar color.

TOBACCO LABEL.

The above Label, printed on blue paper, will be found on all plug tobacco and on the wrappers of chewing tobacco manufactured in union tobacco factories.

UNION BREAD AND CRACKERS.

This is a full size facsimile of the Label of the Bakers' and Confectioners' union. It is printed on fine white paper and is pasted on each loaf of union-made bread. It is an evidence that the bread is made under fair and wholesome conditions, and in clean and healthy bakeries. Following is the confectioners' and cracker Label:

AGUINALDO AND HIS AIDS

Members of the Filipino Dictator's Cabinet.

SIMPLY SHADOWS OF THE CHIEF.

Aguinaldo has so dominated the affairs of the so-called Filipino republic that little attention has been paid to his lieutenants and the men who have been assigned to places of nominal importance in the government. Indeed most people would find difficulty in recalling to mind the names of any of Aguinaldo's cabinet ministers. One reason for this indifference to the individuality of the Filipino leaders below Aguinaldo may be found in the fact that nearly all of his subordinates are mere figureheads—men of no strength of character and little or no following among their own people. In all the forms of government instituted by Aguinaldo since last May there has not been one man who would allow himself to have an opinion—much less to express it—contrary to Aguinaldo's, except, possibly, General Pio del Pilar.

The latest reported Filipino cabinet consisted of the president of the revolutionary government, Emilio Aguinaldo himself; president of the cabinet and minister of foreign affairs, Senor Mabini; minister of the interior, Teodoro Sandico; minister of war, General Balmora Aguinaldo, Emilio's cousin; minister of finance, Mariana Trias, and minister of public works, Gregorio Gonzaga.

Of these six men only three have ever been heard of outside of Manila before their appointment to office—namely, the two Aguinaldos and Sandico. His cousin Balmora is a convenient figurehead. He has been prominent in the councils of the president ever since the latter landed in Cavite last May. He is regarded as a very "safe" man, ready to vote and direct exactly as he may be instructed. No one would expect him to venture an opinion on any important subject until he had learned the attitude of his chief.

Teodoro Sandico is a rather clever half caste, educated as an engineer, who was the medium through whom Aguinaldo worked when he was making our consul in Hongkong believe that he (the consul) was a diplomat of supreme sagacity and finesse. Poor Sandico really took our consul seriously for a time and believed that he had assisted in the negotiation of a treaty between the republic of the United States and the Filipino republic. It is true Aguinaldo was never deceived by the performances of our consuls at Singapore and Hongkong, but he now finds it convenient to pretend that he was led to "help" the Americans by the representatives of our government. As a matter of fact, Aguinaldo knew perfectly well the powers and the limitations of our consuls—a great deal better, in fact, than these men themselves knew them. When I recall the position of Sandico last June it seems absurd to think of him as one of Aguinaldo's cabinet.

One day the former United States consul to Manila, M. O. F. Williams, took on board the collier Nanshan a very nervous Filipino, who announced that he had come to that ship at Consul Williams' request preparatory to sailing for Hongkong. This man was Sandico, and when I questioned him about the purpose of his trip to Hongkong he let the cat out of the bag at once for the sake of getting my influence with Admiral Dewey to let him go in the coming trip of the Zafiro. He said that he was on very friendly terms with Senor Artacho, who had just arrived in Cavite from Hongkong; that Artacho had been arrested the day after his arrival and that he was to be shot that day; that he (Sandico) had barely escaped imprisonment because he had passed the night in the same house with Artacho, and that Consul Williams had saved his life by giving him asylum on board the Nanshan.

About this time one of Aguinaldo's staff, a slight young fellow named Legarda, came off to the Nanshan and told Sandico that Aguinaldo had sent for him to come ashore. Then followed a most interesting struggle on the part of Sandico to escape the fate that he felt sure had been meted out to Artacho and his four friends. Sandico fell back upon his position of supposed safety on board a United States vessel. Aguinaldo sent Legarda to Admiral Dewey with a request that his insubordinate officer be returned to his service. The admiral's eyes snapped when he learned that Sandico had taken refuge aboard the Nanshan at the request of Consul Williams, and he ordered Flag Lieutenant Brumby to see that Sandico was put ashore. The latter, finding that his asylum was to be taken from him begged Brumby and myself most piteously to intercede with the admiral to save his life.—Joseph L. Stickney in Chicago Record.

Knives Made by Pressure.

It is announced that an entirely new method for the manufacture of table

cutlery is being introduced into Sheffield, England, and is exciting much interest. A round bar of steel is placed in a machine, and by means of hydraulic pressure a perfect knife is formed—blade, bolster and handle. The "flash" is taken off, and it is subsequently ground and polished by machinery. One such machine is capable, it is stated, of producing 5,000 of these all steel knives per day at a comparatively small cost in labor. The machines are capable of dealing with any kind of cutlery or tools.—New York Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—The United States transport Sheridan sailed for Manila.

THEOLOGICAL SCHOOL IN AFRICA.

A Bishop Has Been In This Country Working For Funds.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—For about three months Bishop James M. Dwane, a native of Africa, has been in the United States working for funds to build a theological seminary in Africa. The land is bought, the plans are made; all that is needed now is $10,000 with which to begin work on a wing of the building.

"Some years ago," he said, "we organized the Ethiopian church in Cape Colony, Rhodesia and Natal and made many converts. Three years ago I learned that there was an African Methodist Episcopal church in the United States, and I came here to inquire about it. The result is that our church united with it in 1896 and I was made vicar bishop of South Africa. Last year Bishop Turner of the African Methodist Episcopal church came to us in Africa and formally received our church. Then he bought us 12 acres of land in Cape Colony on which to build what we need most, a theological seminary. That school is for the purpose of training and educating a native ministry to preach among the heathen."

Bishop Dwane hopes that liberal New Yorkers will help this new seminary. He expects to sail on the St. Paul on Wednesday.

DEWEY WERE HIS NAME.

He came and raised his flag aboard the ship. An mentioned how that Dewey were his name. He didn't have no great amount o' lip. But wot he said he meant it jist the same. He put us through maneuvers short an long. An kep' us at subcaliber between. Until we come to anchor at Hongkong. An got our orders for the Philippines.

Then this 'ere Dewey struck a pow'ful gait. An mentioned how that somethin had ter drop. He kep' the colliers workin soon an late. An every blessed jackie on the hop. An w'en he got his bunkers chock a-block w'y, then he up an filled his magazines. An tol' 'em w'en they asked him wot's o'clock.

"A little game o' Spanish Philippines!"

An w'en all's done he up an goes to sea. The other ships a-trailin in his rear. An w'en he sights them islands on his lee He signals out fer every ship to clear. We done it with a ringin, rousin cheer; Fer w'y, we'd kind o' learned to like his style. The which were sich he made M to appear. He knowed wot he were doin all the while.

He kep' us on an off till close o' day. An then he kind o' squared around his chin. An wigwagged out: "Their ships is in the bay; They won't come out, so I'm a-goin in!" He knowed the odds ag'in him in the game; He knowed the bay were mined for Uncle Sam; He likewise knowed that Dewey were his name. An, bein sich, he didn't care a slam!

So on we went, a-creepin through the night. Not knowin whereabouts that we was at. With every barker stripped in trim for fight. An every blessed Jackie standin pat. An w'en the mornin broke, w'y, there we lay. Lined up, each crew a-standin to its gun. Right in the middle o' Manila bay. Old Glory gleamin pretty in the sun!

There weren't no time ter talk about it then. Fer Spain cut loose her iron in a shower. An powder monkeys turned ter fightin men. An fightin men ter devils in an hour. 'Twere jist one awful crashin, tearin roar. That seemed like it were bustin o' yer brain. Along with shrieks o' Yankee shells thet bore. A message labeled, "Don't forget the Maine!"

Lor' bless us, but it were a proper sight. Them ships an forts a-splittin shot an shell. An Dewey, lookin pleasant an perlitte, Requestin from the bridge ter "Give 'em —well! An w'en we gits the order ter retire An waits until the smudge has blowed away. Their ships as wasn't sinkin was afire. An Uncle Sam were master o' the bay.

I hear there's some as says it weren't no fight. As does their fightin home an in a chair. "If we'd been there," they says, "we'd done it right!" Well, mebbe so—God knows thet they was there! It weren't our fault the Spaniards couldn't aim. Our ships was there to hit, as well they knows. But, bless their hearts, we'd licked 'em jist the same. If they'd had gunners picked from all that grows!

So, mates, these words is all I've got ter say. I says 'em, an I means 'em, every one: They ain't no other man alive terday. Would tried ter do wot Dewey tried an done. We knows it, us as sweat behind his guns. They knows it, them as writes the scroll of fame. An w'en they tells o' heroes to our sons—W'y, mates, they'll head the list with Dewey's name!

RARE COIN UNEARTHED.

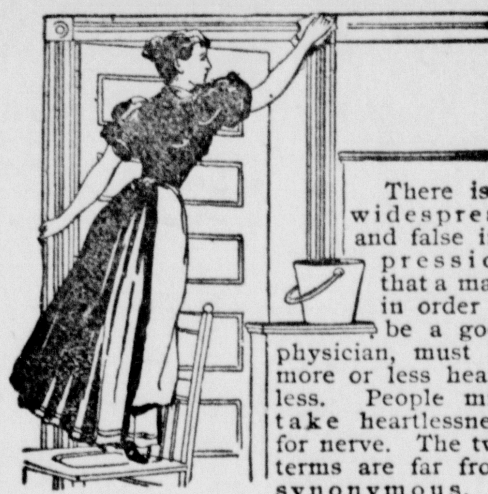

Found Behind a Window Sash in John Penn's House.

The coin collectors of Philadelphia are deeply interested over a rare golden coin found recently by James Furniss in front of the historical old building at Second and Walnut streets. The coin proved to be a sovereign nearly 200 years old and is said to be worth many, many times its original face value. The piece had evidently lain for over a century in a crack of the old bulk window, which is on the Second street front. In making a slight repair to the window Furniss pried open a crack in the lower part of the frame, and the coin dropped to the ground.

So black and disfigured was it with age the finder was not at first inclined to attach any importance to the find. However, an honest person, who recognized the value, made known the extent of the prize, and Furniss took it to a coin collector, who at once attempted to buy it. The old building in which the coin has lain concealed was built by John Penn, the son of William Penn, and for nearly half a century has been occupied by a gunsmith.—Philadelphia Record.

False Teeth That Grow.

A Moscow dentist has solved the problem of supplying the human mouth with false teeth which will grow into the gums as firmly as natural ones. Dr. Zamesky has performed several successful operations on dogs as well as human beings. The teeth are made of gutta percha, porcelain or metal, as the case may be. At the root of the false tooth holes are made. Holes are also made upward into the jaw. The tooth is then placed in the cavity. In a short time a softly granulated growth finds man may have a nerve of steel and a heart as tender as a mother's.

Of all the specialists in the world, there probably are not two that have as wide an experience in the treatment of women's diseases as Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y. With the assistance of his staff of able physicians, he has prescribed, in the past thirty years, for many thousands of women. Dr. Pierce is pre-eminently a sympathetic physician. Perhaps more than any other man in the profession he realizes the hardships of woman's work, and the disadvantages under which she labors because of the weak, delicate and susceptible structure of the feminine organism. His immense practice in diseases peculiar to women forced upon his recognition the fact that women would never take the proper care of their health, so long as that care required the repugnant "examinations" and "local treatments" insisted upon by nearly all physicians. After years of study he invented a remedy now known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription that is an absolute and unfailing cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of diseases peculiar to women. This wonderful medicine cures in the privacy of the home, and does away with the necessity for obnoxious "local treatment." It imparts health, strength, vigor and elasticity to the organs distinctly feminine and fits for wifehood and motherhood.

YES OR NO.

East-Liverpool People Are Respectfully Asked to Answer These Questions.

Is there anything in the evidence of one's senses? Can the reader dispute and then disprove local evidence? Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know?

Are the opinions of residents of East Liverpool of any greater moment than opinions held by residents of Maine or Michigan?

Would you sooner believe people living in those states than those in your own city?

Answer these questions honestly after you have quietly read the following:

Mr. R. H. Hawkins, an employee of Sebring's pottery, who lives at 234 Second street, says: "I had been taking medicine for my kidneys right along, and if I had found a cure I would have had no occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled two years or more with distressing backache across the loins, a steady aching pain with quick twinges now and then while stooping or lifting, that felt as if a sharp instrument had pierced my back, and the secretions of the kidneys were highly colored, feverish or slightly scalding. Work seemed to be a drag; I had no energy, and I am more than thankful that I was induced to go to the W. & W. pharmacy and get Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking them there was no sign of my old complaint."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold for 50 cents per box by all dealers, or sent by mail on receipt of price by Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

PORTER'S MISSION.

No Reason For Germany to Complain of Her Tariff Arrangements With the United States.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—In an interview Robert P. Porter, who is expected to go to Berlin today, explained at some length the objects of his mission, prefacing his remarks with the statement that since the war with Spain many continental countries had shown a disposition to make unfriendly discrimination against American products.

Referring to the recent statement in the Reichstag by Count von Posadowsky-Wehner, German imperial secretary of state for the interior, on the subject of the trade development of the United States with Germany, he said that a close study of the question did not warrant the conclusions drawn by Count Posadowsky-Wehner. On the contrary it showed most satisfactory and profitable trade conditions so far as Germany was concerned.

Further along, he said in part: "There can be no commercial difficulty between the United States and Germany, because, apart from Great Britain, America is knit more closely to Germany by bonds of kinship or mutual interests than to any other power. Individual interests may clash, but a fair analysis of the balance sheets of the two nations shows a healthful condition of trade, which is a subject for rejoicing rather than alarm, on both sides."

TO PAY SPAIN THE CASH.

Appropriation Bill Likely to Pass in the House Today.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Today is suspension day in the house under the rules, and advantage will be taken of it to pass the bill for the payment of $20,000,000 to Spain to carry out the terms of the Paris treaty. Under suspension of the rules amendments are not in order, so that the house will have no opportunity to vote upon any of the numerous expressions of future policy with which various members threatened.

Mr. Gillette of Massachusetts and others gave notice of amendments they would ask the house to vote on in connection with the appropriation before it was stricken from sundry civil bill, but they must now vote for or against the appropriation as reported. When confronted only with the alternative of voting against the appropriation it is not likely that half a dozen votes will be recorded against it.

FATAL DEBAUCH.

Four People Found Dead—Evidences of Dissipation.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 20.—Mrs. Chas. Fahrenkamp, aged 33 years, her two children, Florence and William, aged respectively 10 and 9 years, and an unknown woman, aged about 35 years, were found dead in a room in Mrs. Fahrenkamp's home, 1415 North Fifty-second street. The gas was turned on and life had apparently been extinct for several days. Scattered about the first floor were remnants of cigars and cigarettes and empty beer and whisky bottles.

AGAINST POLYGAMIST ROBERTS.

National Congress of Mothers Adopted a Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The National Congress of Mothers unanimously adopted the following resolution:

"Whereas, The election of a polygamist to congress threatens the sacred institution of monogamous marriage, be it

Resolved, That the third triennial National Council of Mothers requests the congress of the United States to repudiate the result of the November election in Utah, either by refusing to allow Brigham H. Roberts of Utah to be placed on its roll or by expelling him from his seat.

The resolution was framed by Mrs. E. H. Parsons, a delegate from the Mothers' club of Utah, and was prefaced with the statement that man is largely what his home makes him.

Beresford Attended Church.

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—Lord Charles Beresford and party left for the east over the Michigan Central road. He expected to stop for a short time at Niagara Falls to view the ice bridge, and from Buffalo will go direct to Washington. Sunday morning Lord Charles, accompanied by Eugene Cary and W. O. Niblack of the Commercial club, attended divine services at Central church. Later, he took luncheon with Madame Melba. Lord Charles expressed himself as delighted with the reception given him in Chicago.

Agoncillo Left Montreal.

MONTREAL, Feb. 20.—Senor Agoncillo and his compatriot, Senor Marti, left Montreal bound for New York, enroute to London, expecting to sail on the American liner St. Paul on Wednesday. Their decision to depart was sudden, for the two latest additions to the Filipino embassy in the United States, E. R. Deltos and N. Rivera, who arrived here from Chicago, were surprised at meeting Agoncillo and Marti in the station platform. Agoncillo, it was said, would take up the next move in the game, an attempt to interest the powers of Europe in the Philippines.

School Men to Meet.

COLUMBUS, Feb. 20.—The department of superintendence of the National Educational association holds a three-days' session here this week, opening tomorrow. Superintendent E. H. Mark of the Louisville schools, president of the department, has arrived in the city, and says he expects fully 1,000 educators from all parts of the country to be in attendance.

Twenty-one Passengers Killed.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 20.—An express train from Calais, having passengers from London on board, collided with a stationary train at Rorez, near this city. Twenty-one persons were killed outright and 100 were more or less injured. There were no Englishmen or Americans among the victims.

May Cause Friction in the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—The situation in the house has been greatly complicated by the action of the senate in placing the Nicaragua canal bill upon the river and harbor bill as a rider. This will doubtless precipitate a bitter fight in the house and may result in the loss of the bill. But the failure of the river and harbor bill will not make an extra session incumbent. But the contest over it will develop bad blood, produce friction which may make it all the more difficult with the other measures which must of necessity pass to avoid an extraordinary session.

Will Erect a Tablet to Gladstone.

Arrangements are being made for the erection of a tablet to the memory of Gladstone on the house in Rodney street, Liverpool, in which he was born. The work is being undertaken by the Historic Society of Lancashire and Cheshire, to whom the necessary permission has been granted by the possessor of the residence.—Chicago Times-Herald.
